GERMANS DEMAND RUMANIAN PEACE; ROW ON WAR BREWS IN PARLIAMENT

UNIVERSAL TRAINING AMENDMENT INTRODUCED

Bill Would Have All Young Men Register at 19 Years, Subject to Draft at 21 Years

BRITISH HERE TO BE CALLED TO FIGHT

Measure Would Give Youth of Land Two Years of Supervised Military Instruction

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Senator New of Indiana this afternoon introduced an amendment to pending legislation in the Senate to establish universal military training as a permanent national policy. He introduced an amendment to the joint resolution providing for the registration of young men who have reached the age of 19 years and would provide for their training between the time of their registration and the time when they attain the age of 21 years.

Young men trained under the provisions of the amendment, however, would not be subject to the draft until after they became of age. No more farmers will be drafted until after spring planting is over, Secretary Baker told Representative Hays, Iowa, today, when he presented appeals of the Middle West for more arm workers.

Hays told Baker the situation was getting so serious because of the shortage of labor that the production would be decreased 25 to 35 per cent below normal unless relief is furnished.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The convention between the British recruiting mission and the United States draft authorities, under which it is expected 200,000 British subjects in this country will be subject to service in the British army, has been agreed upon, it was announced today by Major Mitchell Innes, legal adviser to the British recruiting mission.

The agreement only awaits ratification by the Senate and the signatures of President Wilson and King George to become effective. All subjects between the ages of 20 and 41 are liable to call.

Major Innes believes that the new convention will be ratified by both governments and be made operative within a month.

Recruiting missions from France and Italy are soon to be sent here for a similar purpose, it is said.

Aerial Mail Service to Be Established

Fast Planes Will Make Trips Daily Between New York and Washington.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—An airplane mail service between Washington and New York with a round-trip service a day, will be put into effect within a few weeks, according to plans announced today by Postmaster-General Burleson. His department introduced a bill for constructing and furnishing five aeroplanes to be used, and it is expected the service will be expanded later.

The bids will be opened February 21, and the contract will be awarded to the bidder whose machines give satisfactory service test to the war and navy departments. The aeroplanes and parts are to be delivered at such points as the department may designate in Washington, Philadelphia and New York not later than April 25. It was announced that the war department will release a sufficient number of Hispano-Suiza 150-horsepower motors to equip the planes.

The machines must be capable of carrying 200 pounds of mail matter a distance of not less than 200 miles without stop at a maximum speed of 100 miles, a minimum speed of 45 miles and a climbing speed of 6000 feet in ten minutes.

For the transmission of mail over this route a special postage rate will be charged, not exceeding 25 cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Regular schedule time will be observed.

It is not the purpose of the department to make this an experimental service, said Postmaster-General Burleson. "Its practicability is to be ascertained before the establishment of the route. Once established it is to remain a permanent service."

Former President Roosevelt Passes Comfortable Night

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Continued improvement in Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's condition was reported by his physicians today. They issued the following bulletin: "Colonel Roosevelt had a comfortable night and his condition is improving. His temperature and pulse are normal and at present there is nothing to indicate a further operation." Unofficially, it was stated the former president had rallied from his setback of yesterday in good shape and that his physicians are well satisfied with his condition.

TUSCANIA'S SURVIVORS LIST GROWS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Additional names of American soldiers rescued from the Tuscania, which was cut down materially the list of 340 still unaccounted for, were expected today by the war department.

Officials expressed confidence that the names of about 200 more survivors would come in.

Eleven names were reported yesterday, but one of them, John M. Shortell, of De Soto, Mo., had appeared on the list of saved previously.

Survivors of the Tuscania previously listed among those unreported were announced today as follows:

William E. Evans, New York City.
Charles Philip Merton, Waukesha, Wis.

William Moreau, Leon Springs, Tex.
Second Lieutenant Charles Scott Patterson, 1804 S. Union avenue, Los Angeles, Cal.

Private Walter Alexander, Marshall, Mo.
Gustave Bayer, Utica, Minn.

Robert E. Lee Hickey, Denton, Tex.
Oscar Roebuck, Soper, Okla.

William D. Lawrence, Webster City, Iowa.
Clifford D. Spaul, Lebanon, Pa.

Herman Stoss, Hennessey, Okla.
Herman Stoss, Hennessey, Okla.

Among the men not yet reported are:

Following is a supplemental list of those who were aboard the Tuscania and who have not been reported as survivors:

Abboni, Private Frank T., Independence, Okla.
Anderson, Private Homer Llewellyn, Cumberland, Wis.

Allen, Private Clarence W., Traverse City, Mich.
Brown, Sergeant Benjamin Harrison, Barron, Wis.

Bennett, Private Herman L., Bellevue, Mo.
Cheney, Private Walter, Virginia, Minn.

Hurst, Private Raymond T., Pocasset, Okla.
Lind, Private Robert F., Poy Sippi, Wis.

McClain, Walter Albert, Ocala, Okla.
Mitchell, Private John, Kenosha, Wis.

Miller, Corporal Lawrence P., Hortonville, Wis.
Ransom, Private Manuel, Paila Maui, Hawaii.

Smith, Private William V., Fort Cobb, Okla.
Speidel, Private Henry S., New York City.

Whitely, Cook Carl S., Schenectady, N. Y.

The list of the Tuscania's unaccounted for was further reduced today by the checking of a number of men who were sick or injured in hospitals in Ireland. Reports to the war department indicate the sick and injured are making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

OTHER NAMES ON LIST OF SURVIVORS

The men removed from the unaccounted for list today are:

Private George R. Baker, Carter Valley, Tex.

Private Ernest Cote, Weeden Station, Canada.

Private Elmer Holden, Fort Worth, Tex.

Private Hallie M. Hozleton, Coburg, Ore.

Private Gus Johnson, Reedport, Ore.

Private Robert J. Moody, Cambridge, Minn.

Private Joseph E. McDonald, Springfield, Cal.

Private John F. McDonnell, Hinton, Okla.

Private Albert I. Nauman, Minneapolis, Minn.

Private Sidney R. Hall, Gainesville, Tex.

Private George A. Stierlein, Fernald, Wash.

Private Lester L. Smith, Galice, Ore.

The war department announced the following additional survivors:

Private Ernest Linthicum, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Private Walter T. Larson, Warren, Ore.

PRESIDENT'S WILSON IS SPEECH TO BRACE UP AUSTRIANS TO CONFER WITH CHIEFS ON SUPER-WAR CABINET

Elimination of Magyar Belligerents From the War Is Believed Now to Be in Sight

VIENNA GOVERNMENT IS RIPE FOR PEACE

Washington Diplomats Look for Dissatisfaction Among Germans Who See Address

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—Emperor Karl has decided to ask Baron von Seyditz, the Austrian premier, to form a new cabinet. Vienna dispatches said today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Congress and officials generally today felt that President Wilson's latest war aims speech will assist the elimination of Austria from the war.

Austria, Hired of the struggle and growing discontented at building German shambles from the fire, sooner or later will, in the President's broad-gauge proffer of a new chance at peace, authorities declare.

Austria is the main hope upon which the Wilson peace drive has been and is centered. The President's latest speech, based outwardly on the friendliness of the Czernin response to the January 8 message, was founded on reports of American workers abroad that Austria is ripe for peace.

As for Germany, the President is expected to cause new dissatisfaction among Liberals of the Scheidemann and more radical types. Continuance of the war is credited solely to the military party in Germany and this fact, plus Wilson's disclaimer of any territory wanted by the United States, is likely to bore into the German mind.

Bulgarian Minister Panaretov was in Congress to hear the speech at the administration building, though the Serbian minister sat nearby, but they did not speak.

Panaretov declared himself in "heartily accord" with President Wilson's message. The Rumanian attaché, Lieutenant Stolica, thought the speech a wonderful offering to oppressed nationalities and a solution of the Balkan problem.

PEACE TALK ON NEW AND GREATER SCALE

Actual peace negotiations of a new type and on a far greater scale than heretofore known are seen by old-school diplomats in the recent series of addresses by spokesmen of the warring nations outlining terms.

Although President Wilson's latest address to Congress is regarded as a clear reiteration of America's desire to bring about a just and lasting peace, the military masters of Germany, ready to consider peace on the principles of justice it was pointed out, negotiations on a vast scale really are going on.

These "extra official" negotiations, as they are called by diplomats, depart radically from the ancient and accepted practices of diplomacy. Instead of being conducted in the secrecy of round-table conferences, which was the aim of the central powers in the early stages of the war, the great issues are now being expounded and critically analyzed in the light of publicity and the world's forum.

President addressed Congress to clear up any confusion resulting from the recent speeches on peace terms by Count Von Hertling, the German chancellor, and Count Czernin, the Austrian premier. In the address of Count Von Hertling the President found no approach to peace, but only a proposal to end the war on German terms. The Austrian premier, however, the President said, seemed to see the fundamental elements of peace with clear vision and probably would have gone farther had it not been for Austria's dependence on Germany.

CZERNIN FRIENDLINESS DICTATED BY BERLIN

That Count Czernin's conciliatory response to President Wilson's speech of January 8 was made with German consent was indicated by the German press, according to official dispatches today from Rome. Germania of Berlin said it was the intention of the Austrian premier to prepare the ground for peace negotiations between Austria and the United States.

"We are confident," the paper says, "that such an attempt would not have been made without German consent."

Other Rome cables today pointed out that Germany dominates much of Austria's action. For instance, Austrian fliers taken prisoner show the Italians that the Austrian supreme command, at the Pope's request, quit raiding Italy, but Germany caused resumption.

Members of Both Parties Will Be Taken Into White House Councils on War Legislation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Wilson will begin a series of conferences tomorrow with Congressional leaders—both Republicans and Democrats—on all phases of war legislation.

For the first time members of both parties are to be taken into the White House councils in consideration of war legislation.

The administration expects to smooth out some of the difficulties which confront the war program.

The pending bill to empower the President to consolidate executive department functions and redistribute work among them, now openly opposed by the Republicans, will be one of the first subjects to come up. The bill is the administration's counter proposal to the Senate military committee bill to create a super-war cabinet and a director of munitions.

The purpose of the conferences is to arrive at some compromise on this subject first, but there is every indication that they will be carried on throughout the war.

TAKES REPUBLICANS INTO CONFIDENCE

The President's move is regarded as the first step toward taking members of both parties more into his confidence and toward calling on the Republicans to actively enter the war councils.

Administration leaders in the Senate today planned consideration of the legislation the President wants to give him more freedom in reorganizing departments and bureaus.

Senator Overman, chairman of the judiciary sub-committee appointed to consider the bill, today predicted a favorable report. But should Congress decline to act it was said today the President feels that in a large measure he now has, and is disposed to exercise, authority to effect, at least partially, such reorganization as he thinks desirable.

The end of the Senate military committee's detailed investigation is in sight today when inquiry into the building of camps and accommodations was continued with officers of the charge of construction and temporary housing of the army's activities after hearing a final statement within a few days from Secretary Baker.

FEES OF COMPANY INQUIRED INTO

Fees of the George A. Fuller Company and the Thompson-Starrett Company were inquired into today. Former Brigadier General Little, in charge of construction, his aides testified, built the Fort Riley, Kan., Quantico, Va., camps with estimated fees of $300,000 and also government buildings in Washington estimated to cost $2,500,000 on a 7 per cent commission basis.

The Thompson-Starrett Company, the committee was told, will get $412,500 for building the government power plant at Charleston, W. Va. The firm also received $250,000 for building the Yaphank, N. Y., cantonment and about $200,000 for the Staten Island hospital.

Major Starrett testified that Stone & Webster had government contracts aggregating $200,000,000, including $150,000,000 for the Emergency Fleet Corporation and $20,000,000 for a nance depot in Europe.

It was disclosed that several men formerly connected with large construction firms given government contracts now are commissioned officers in General Little's office or temporarily assisting his force or the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense.

"They assisted in getting this great machine together and had nothing to do with awarding contracts," said Major Starrett. "In the reorganizational work we called on all the great contractors to give us their best men, to get their advice."

M. C. Tuttle of Boston, a member of the advisory committee, Major Starrett said, would not allow any government work to be given to his company while he was on the civilian body.

Hun Ultimatum Brings Chaos to Smaller State; Cabinet Quits in Crisis

Official Confirmation of Russia's Withdrawal Without Signing Peace Treaty Received in London; Troops Go Home

POLAND TO PROTEST PEACE PACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The state department today officially announced that Germany served an ultimatum on Rumania demanding immediate peace and that the Rumanian cabinet has resigned.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Official confirmation of Russia's withdrawal from the war was received here today through a wireless press despatch from Petrograd.

"The Russian delegates have declared the Brest-Litovsk peace negotiations ended," declared the despatch.

"Demobilization of the Russian armies has been ordered. Some first-line detachments of younger soldiers have been left to defend the frontiers."

The official proclamation declares the Russians will not continue the war against the German and Austrian workers and will not sign an annexation treaty.

The demobilization proclamation orders immediate withdrawal from the trenches and concentration of troops in the rear for transportation to the interior.

It begs the soldiers to await the return homeward calmly and appeals to them to bring with them stores and artillery which cost millions.

"Comrades, peace negotiations are ended," the proclamation stated. "German capitalists, bankers and landlords, supported by the silent cooperation of the English and French middle classes, submitted conditions such as couldn't be subscribed to by the Russian revolution."

The governments of Germany and Austria desire to possess countries and peoples vanquished by arms.

"We could not sign a peace bringing sadness and oppression and suffering to millions of workers, but we can not and will not continue a war begun by the czar's capitalists."

The correspondent at Berne of the Morning Post reports that German leaders have taken advantage of the situation in Russia and erected 400 booths at convenient spots along and close to the Russian front. It appears that the Russian soldiers are more anxious to obtain playing cards and that they readily exchange a machine gun for a pack of cards.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—German and Russian delegates at Petrograd, according to a despatch from Berlin, have signed an agreement calling for the earliest possible repatriation of prisoners of war unfit for military service. Owing to transportation difficulties the Central powers must try to force a peace treaty.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—Members of both houses of Parliament assembled today for the eighth session of the longest Parliament in modern times—a session which is virtually certain to be the last, and which will be followed by a general election upon extended franchise, with women voting for the first time in the country's history.

King George, accompanied by the queen and the Prince of Wales, on leave from the Italian front, performed the opening ceremony at noon in the absence of some of the customary spectacular features.

The proceedings following the reading of the king's speech will be of interest and importance and may cover the whole field of war effort.

Political circles have been buzzing the week past, and with various rumors, showing that there were criticism of the government is to be expected in the debate. One rumor is to the effect that a hostile amendment condemning the government may be moved from the front opposition bench.

Complaints that ministers have interfered with the military chiefs have been resuscitated recently and voiced by the radical press. This subject will be brought to debate in association with the demand for an explanation of the enlargement of the powers of the supreme council at the recent meeting at Versailles.

PREMIER TO REPLY TO ASQUITH

In this connection it will be recalled that former Premier Asquith last week pronounced a question concerning the supreme war council, and it is expected he will bring up this topic again. It is assumed that Premier Lloyd George will reply with an important statement.

Before the conclusion of the debate the radical and labor members will again urge their views. They may also move an amendment criticizing the policy of the Versailles council, whose official statement referred to vigorous prosecution of the war as the only immediate task of the allies.

A joint affidavit of war aims may also be demanded.

The submarine menace, food rationing and the dispute with the engineers regarding the extension of compulsory military service are among the other topics which various members have hoped to raise, but as the government aims to have the motion concerning the address in reply to the king's speech taken on Thursday at the latest, it is probable the debate will be restricted.

KING GEORGE DECLARES WAR STAGE IS CRITICAL

Explains to Parliament That Fair Settlement Offered by Britain Is Ignored by Berlin

WAR AIMS INCLUDE RIGHTS FOR ALL PEOPLES

German Government Is Scored for Refusal of Just Demands for Restitution of Wrongs

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The war must go on, Premier Lloyd George told the House of Commons today.

"There is no real peace meaning, either in Hertling's or Czernin's declarations," he said. "There is no word in regard to Belgium or Poland, or the rights of France or Italy."

"In the absence of anything definite, it is our duty to go on with the war."

In reply to former Premier Asquith's request for further information regarding the Versailles conference, Lloyd George said:

"It is impossible to say anything regarding the decisions reached without giving information to the enemy."

The premier said the situation on the west front in recent weeks had become more menacing. He said the allies' superiority was gradually diminishing and that unification of their armies was therefore essential to meet the danger.

Asquith, commenting upon President Wilson's speech to Congress yesterday, said the President had discriminated justly in regard to both tone and substance between the declarations of the German chancellor and the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister in their utterances regarding war aims.

NO ALARM IS OCCASIONED BY RUSS MOVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—How Russia's complete withdrawal from the war will affect the allies and the United States in a military way cannot be accurately estimated at this time, officials here believe, despite the fact that on paper the Russian collapse would seem to give the Germans a great numerical superiority of troops on the western front.

Officially there is nothing to be said on the subject because the government has no official information. Probably no definite official pronouncement of how it affects the situation could be made anyway without agreement among all the co-belligerents and that is considered unlikely. Military men, however, confident that the allied line on the western front will hold against any German force that can be thrown against it, profess not to regard the Russian separate peace as the menace it would appear on paper.

The fact that 1,500,000 German prisoners will be freed to return to Germany is regarded with no alarm at all. Military men say they could not quickly be reorganized into efficient military units. The general opinion here is that Germany would be more interested in keeping the prisoners in Russia rather than risk having them carry Bolshevik doctrine back to Germany. The German and Russian divisions on the Russian front which will entirely be released by a separate peace, are regarded as already having been stripped of their effectiveness, which have been transferred to the western front. Military experts say in addition that Germany would be obliged to keep some of these 147 divisions in the vast conquered territory for garrison purposes.

The one outstanding fact is that the military experts are sure that the German army cannot draw from the Russian front cannot overwhelm the western line.

Russia at this time owes the United States $187,779,000 advanced for supplies.

For that sum the government holds Russian bonds. Whether this vast sum will be a total loss to the United States depends on whether the ultimate government in Russia decides to repudiate the debt. A credit of $25,000,000 was established as the treasury for Russia but only $187,779,000 was used when payments were stopped.

ALLIES NEED FOOD; SAVING NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Food consumption in the United States increased more than 19 per cent during the last twelve months in spite of all efforts at conservation and control.

This means, the House committee on agriculture has been told by Food Administrator Herbert C. Hoover, that the food administration must be granted drastic authority.

Hoover does not attribute the increased consumption to any lack of patriotism on the part of the American people nor to any failure in the propaganda campaign conducted by the food administration.

The country's prosperity and the accompanying high wages have allowed thousands of persons their first opportunity to "eat all they want," Hoover says.

While American consumption grows the food situation in the allied countries daily becomes more menacing. During the last week Hoover has received official cablegrams from Lord Rhonda, the British food controller, bringing new warnings that the United States exports of foodstuffs must greatly exceed the original estimates.

Austrians Cry for Bread, Peace

Revolt Menaces Dual Monarchy

Workers Fight Conquest Dream

By William Philip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1918, by United Press)

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 12.—Austrian workers, before taking up their tools following the recent strikes, did these three significant things:

Laid down conditions forcing Foreign Minister Czernin to adhere to the Wilsonian program.

Sent a delegation to Emperor Karl, who stated: "Peace is my only aim—day and night."

Formed a permanent committee to maintain a watch on the government and force it to keep its promises.

The same causes which unchained the strike continue. Another and graver social disturbance is possible any day. The Austrians want peace and are opposed to living for Pan-German dreams of conquest.

I know for a fact that an Austrian official now in Switzerland declared Austria ready to accept President Wilson's peace terms.

AUSTRIAN RULERS AFRAID OF FUTURE

The Austrian rulers are afraid of the future, especially if the war continues. They have already had to back down to avoid trouble.

The strong, new Hungarian army, the Karolyi party refuses to join the government party, because it wants an independent Hungary. The Tisza party is undecided.

The Czechs are suspicious toward Germany and have asked appointment to watch their interests in the peace conference. The Pan-Germans are equally suspicious of their neighbors and are calling each other names.

But the masses of the countries feel the same—the cry of both peoples is for bread and peace.

The Bolshevik movement is rampant and growing in Austria-Hungary and the country is menaced by revolution and dismemberment. The monarchists are scared, as are the Pan-Germans, who are keenly aware of events.

The Austrian Bolsheviks are headed by Otto Bauer, who recently returned from Russia, where he was held prisoner.

(Recent United Press despatches from Petrograd state the Bolsheviks had decided to appoint Bauer their premier and to take power.)

The movement is spreading rapidly.

MORE NAMES OF SURVIVORS SOUGHT

Through the British embassy the governor-general of Canada, this afternoon expressed to President Wilson his sympathy for the United States in the torpedoing of the Tuscania and the resultant loss of American life.

GERMANY'S STAND SCORED BY KING

necessities of war render it imperative for me, after but a brief interval, to summon you again to your deliberations. The aims for which I and my allies are contending were recently set forth by my government in a statement which received the emphatic approval of my peoples throughout the empire, and provided a fair basis for settlement of the present struggle.

The German government has, however, ignored our just demands that it should make restitution for the wrongs it has committed and furnish guarantees against its unprovoked repetition. Its spokesmen refuse any obligations for themselves while denying the rights of others. Until a recognition is offered of the principles on which an honorable peace can be concluded, it is our duty to prosecute the war with all the vigor we possess.

SUMMONS MEN FOR WAR COUNCIL

"I have summoned representatives of my dominions and my federal empire to a further session of the imperial war cabinet in order that I may again receive their advice on questions of moment affecting the common interests of the empire."

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons, you will be asked to make stable provisions for the requirements of the combatant forces and for the stability of our national finance."

"My lords and gentlemen, the struggle in which we are engaged has reached a critical stage which demands more than ever our united energies and resources. I confidently commend to your patriotism the measures which will be submitted to you, and I pray that the Almighty may bestow his blessing on your labors."

ROME, Feb. 12.—"Great expectations" were today at the opening of Parliament here today over Premier Orlando's statement regarding the inter-allied conference at Versailles.

AUTO LUNCHEON

"How they do it in Los Angeles" will be the topic of the day at a luncheon to be held Friday noon at the Commercial Club when the automobile committee of the Chamber of Commerce will discuss their proposed campaign for auto tourists for the coming season.

The speaker of the day will be John Mitchell, former president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, former president of the Hotel Men of America and the dean of California hotel operators, who will come to Oakland from his country home at Los Gatos to address the committee.

Mitchell will tell of the Los Angeles campaign methods and of the fascinating advertising and methods of the southland. Louis Aber will preside.

MONEY IN TIME

Oakland asked for her River and Harbors Fund appropriations just in time. While the work on the estuary for which government funds have already been appropriated is now nearing completion, including the Season's Basin project and other harbor work, other cities will not fare so well, a call projects before the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress, which is now in session, must wait until after the war. This was the telegraphic news received today by the Chamber of Commerce.

The House committee today voted to include in the coming appropriation no project for the protection of the estuary. Oakland this year has no government money for the harbor, and is one of the few coast cities unaffected by this decision.

"PROSPECTS OF PEACE ARE ENDED" AT APRIL 1

—Lewis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—"Prospects of peace are ended until Germany is beaten to the point where she yields to the instincts of humanity," declared Senator James Harrison Lewis of Illinois this afternoon in a speech in the Senate lauding Abraham Lincoln as the founder of a democracy which President Wilson is now extending to the world.

"Germany must now accept the precept of the democracy set forth by Abraham Lincoln before there can be peace," the Senator said.

"The democracy implanted by Lincoln and advanced by Wilson is but the defining of nature's purpose to endow her mankind with equality of opportunity," said Senator Lewis, "to assure the freedom of man in all and to make sure full liberty to govern one's self. This is the democracy heralded by Jefferson, established by Lincoln, and now forwarded by Wilson."

DEMOCRACY A NECESSITY

"Let the world know that as George Washington fought for democracy as a right to America, and Thomas Jefferson proclaimed it as a necessity to mankind, while Lincoln made it his creed of emancipation for all color and all climes—so, too, Wilson fights for democracy as a right of the whole world."

The promise of Wilson "to make the world safe for democracy" is no threat to make the world take democracy. It is but the assurance of the efforts to give to the world the chance to take democracy. This war of America is the announcement that we, by our entrance into the conflict, will prevent any despot depriving any people from exercising their free will in rejecting despotism and accepting democracy."

Senator Lewis referred to the sinking of the Lusitania as the act of an assassin while peace terms and counter-proposals from Count Czernin and Count von Hertling were being put forth.

GERMANY MUST YIELD

"It ends forever the prospect of a peace until Germany is beaten to where she yields to the instinct of humanity through fear, and yields peace and gives justice through being crushed under the power of her treachery and forced by helplessness to seek the mercy of mankind."

"If there is an American who can now do less than sacrifice every possession and very life and vindicate his man and justice in his case, may his tongue that would speak against her cleave to the roof of his mouth and his hand that would be lifted for his country's enemies wither at his side. The hour has come to America. Forward, Americans, to avenge the wrongs of the world."

DECIDE ON OWNER OF DOBBLE RANCH

A decision in the complicated suit for possession of the famous John Dobbie ranch at Hayward, comprising 1820 acres, has been given by Superior Judge William S. Wells, after a trial lasting more than two weeks, in favor of George D. Jones, who had purchased the ranch, paying $50,000 therefor and receiving a deed, instituted the suit to quiet title in his name against George Schmidt of Berkeley and others, who claimed purchase under a prior oral agreement.

Roscoe D. Jones was chief of counsel in Garretts' interest.

PACKERS FIGHT TO KEEP PAPERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Packers' attorneys today renewed their battle to keep out of the hands of the Federal Trade Commission secret records which the commission alleges disclose conspiracy to defraud the government on army contracts and to commit other felonies.

The packers' lawyers went before Judge Francis E. Baker of the Court of Appeals here today for a writ of error on which they will appeal from Federal Judge Landis' ruling opening packers' vaults to the commission's investigators.

STRIKERS IN RIOT

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Further news was available today of the labor demonstration in Denmark, to which country industrial unrest appears to have spread. Strikers attacked government buildings and engaged in hand-to-hand fighting with the police in Copenhagen yesterday, according to despatches received here. Armed with revolvers, sticks and paving stones, the strikers are reported to have attacked the ministerial buildings and the treasury. They demanded possession of the money at the latter place, one despatch said.

ARE BATHS NECESSARY?

This looks like a foolish question in this enlightened age, but there are nations in America who know nothing of internal bathing a few years ago and are now eager to testify that they are fully as essential to health as external baths.

A purely natural process of properly using warm water the "J. M. L. Cascade" removes all the poisonous waste from the lower intestine, which physicians agree is the cause of 95 per cent of all human ailments.

It instantly relieves constipation, properly regulates the bowels and prevents all the dragging down which biliousness and liver troubles always create.

E. W. Southall, M. D., of Genesee, N. Y., writes:

"I challenged the doctors in this town last week and I can say for a fact that I know the reason for my success with many serious illnesses was due to having the bowels washed out once and sometimes twice a day. I only wish I could make the people believe in the efficiency of good bowel washing. Sincerely yours."

The Owl Drug Co. have filed a trademark for the "J. M. L. Cascade" in the past few years, and will show and explain it to you on request.

An interesting booklet "Internal Bathing" by Dr. J. M. L. Cascade is only 50 cents. It can be obtained for the asking. Advt.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, overworked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get the pure coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

A Shampoo Worth Trying

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and the quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense by dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthox, which can be obtained from any druggist, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so to be easy to apply to the hair instead of just to the top of the head. The hair rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very healthy.—Advertisement.

NUXATED IRON

You Can Tell the Women with Pinkish or Reddish Tint to their Blood—Bleached Hair—Rough Skin—Full of Life and Vigor.

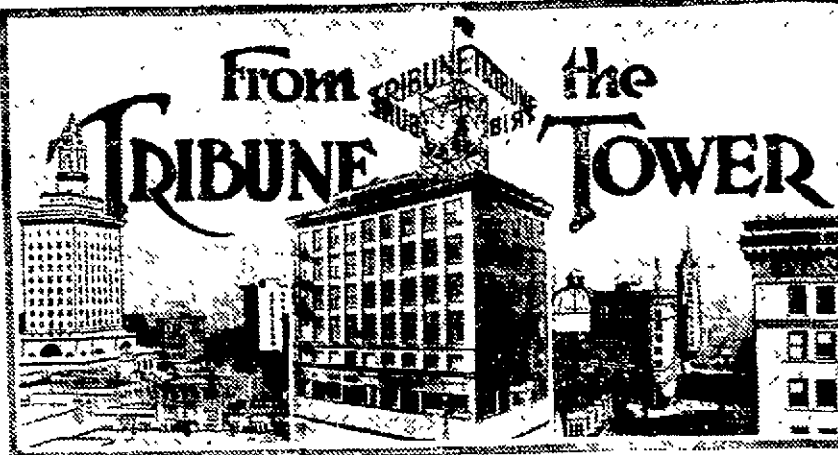

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says physicians prescribe more organic Iron-Nuxated Iron than any other medicine for the cure of the weakness, vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman.—Sends warning against use of iron pills, which may injure the stomach and in some cases do more harm than good; advises use of only Nuxated Iron, taken three times per day after meals. It will increase the strength and endurance of weak nerves, transmute iron in 30 days' time in many instances. Dispensed by all good druggists.

This Will Remove Hair or Fuzzy Growths

(Toilet Tip)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered salicylic acid and water, apply to hairy surface about two minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repetition, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine salicylic acid.—Advertisement.

Job Printing at The TRIBUNE Office.

Rev. Francis J. Van Horn has been taking the lid off of Oakland's iniquity and peering under the cover for jumps in some of his recent sermons. The other Sunday he turned the spotlight on "Hell Below Seventh Street."

In a couple of Sundays he is expected to take the lid off of the title "Purgatory and the City Hall."

At the close of last Sunday's service a prominent member of his congregation walked out of the church accompanied by his wife. The man was visibly impressed by Rev. Van Horn's sermon.

"Wasn't it magnificent?" he asked as they came down the front steps. His wife gave him a look of scorn.

"I should say not," she declared emphatically. "The brim was too wide, and the feather was a last year's product, and besides they are not wearing that style this season anyhow."

THIS KID SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN UNDERDONE

Frank Davison, steward at the Emergency Hospital, has as a friend a boy who has been praying hard for a baby brother.

Each night for several weeks he knelt beside his crib and made his request. The prayer always ended with the adjuration: "Oh Lord, please hurry up."

When the nurse finally let little Richard in to see the new arrival, he stared at it in complete disgust.

An hour later, en route to bed, he knelt down in the same old spot with the memory of a tiny, red, wrinkled face still fresh before him and put his feelings into words.

"Much obliged for bringin' him, Lord," he said, "but aw-gee! Lord, you hurried him up too fast. He ain't done."

WILL ANYHOW, IT WAS A VERY CLEVER SPILT

There is sarcasm and sarcasm. But Superintendent J. P. Potter of the traction company, known to his intimates as "J. P.," has a brand all his own. The other day he had occasion to request a conductor to seek other and less hazy things. The conversation went something like this:

Potter—"We don't be able to use you any longer. You see your register hasn't been ringing often enough."

Conductor W. H. I had rheumatism in my arm and I couldn't reach the cord.

HAYS AND ADAMS CONTEST IS CLOSE

By L. C. Earnest, United Press Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12.—When the drift toward Will H. Hays of Indiana for national chairman of the Republican party became more pronounced today, his backers began to publicly for the first time and claimed his election without reservation.

After two days of earnest endeavor to unite on a candidate acceptable to all elements of the party, the committee today, its backers and supporters of John T. Adams of Iowa and Hays must carry their battles to the committee floor.

In the small hours of the morning it was announced at Adams' headquarters that he positively would be a candidate when the committee met this afternoon. There were predictions, however, that he would withdraw at the last moment because of an attack on his Americanism.

A letter written by Adams during a tour of many states months after the outbreak of the European war, was read before the party's executive committee late yesterday by Senator Calder of New York. It indicated, anti-Adam members of the committee asserted, that Adams entertained at that time a friendly sentiment toward Germany.

The letter threw the nation committee into confusion. The restraint that had marked the deliberations of the committee was swept away in a moment, the last hope of harmony was dispelled.

Adams and his backers withdrew at once to their headquarters and did not attend the joint conference of the national and advisory committees that followed the executive committee meeting. As a result the conference developed a distinct Hays atmosphere.

After being closeted with his advisers several hours, Adams voiced defiance to his opponents in a statement defending his Americanism. It charged George W. Perkins with responsibility for bringing out the letter and declared Adams had personal knowledge that the "circulation of the attack" had been planned three weeks ago.

As the descendant of nine generations of New England stock, and without a drop of German blood in his veins," the statement read, "I have not and could not have the slightest sympathy for any nation as against the United States or any nation with which the interests or welfare of the United States are allied."

Use of the letter, three men pointed out, was justified by the fact that in the event of Adams' election, he might logically have become a potent weapon in the hands of the Democrats.

The division of strength between Adams and Hays for the probable test before the committee was somewhat uncertain. The Adams men claimed that they would enter this afternoon's meeting assured of a sufficient number of votes to elect

HEALTH BREAKS

"Don't mention it. I am much obliged to you for bringing the car back."

WELL! WELL! HERE'S

After years of work, during which he has tried every known device in the world of science, J. E. Spiro, former police commissioner of San Francisco and head of the Spiro Bottling Works, has invented the "magnetic key-hole."

For years men have struggled in the vain quest of hours to find elusive keyholes. Valuable door-plates have been scratched up, innumerable family dissensions engendered, and all manner of troubles started from this difficulty.

Spiro places a powerful magnet on the inside of the front door, just back of the keyhole. The door key is made of iron. When the late-returning householder comes up his front steps, he grasps the key in his hand and pokes it at the door. The current in the powerful magnet immediately pulls the key toward the keyhole and in it goes.

All the owner has to do is turn the key and the door is open.

Spiro is demonstrating his keyhole at the Athenium Club, the Chamber of Commerce and several other places.

IF THEY'RE HARD BOILED

They come in flocks and droves—the annual crop of inventors. They pick on bankers as being especially easy marks, but they seldom get what they want. W. W. Garthwaite has his share.

Not so many days ago a dignified-looking individual appeared and sent his card into the bank president. Garthwaite busy, but he is always courteous, so he had the gentleman admitted. In academic terms the man explained his errand. He was an inventor. Not a wild impossible inventor of things that were irrational, but a sane scientist who had studied much upon his problem.

The man's language, his dignified utterance and his reference to the government, caught Garthwaite's attention. "Tell me," he said, "What is your idea?"

The dignified man edged closer. "I have a secret formula," he said, "for growing hair on bald heads. The hair prevents them from breaking in transit."

Garthwaite rained.

PLAN LIBRARIES FOR TRANSPORTS

In addition to the thousands of books which have been collected for distribution in the national army cantonments, the American Library Association is planning to send books to France. On every transport cases containing about 150 volumes will be provided for every 1000 soldiers.

These books will be circulated among the men on board during the voyage, and at the port of debarkation the volume will be collected again and presented to the Y. M. C. A., the R. C. or the Red Cross. It is hoped that this mission will be allowed by the war department to hand each soldier a book and a magazine as he goes on board the transport.

A dispatch office has just been opened by the association in Hoboken, New Jersey, for the purpose of this office will also supply books to the men of the navy who are foreign travelers. Books will be supplied to ships whenever requested.

MURDERERS HEAD FOR MEXICO LINE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 12.—Apparently eluding the cordon of cowboys and rangers headed by Federal officers who had surrounded them, Thomas and John Power and Thomas Sisson, wanted for the murder of Sheriff McBride and two deputies Sunday, the three fugitives today are racing on horseback for the Mexican line with 250 men in pursuit.

This was the word telegraphed headquarters here today from the south of the main line.

The expected gun battle did not materialize. The men are thought to have slipped out of the mountains by an unguarded pass. The border patrol was undisturbed today along the international line.

FALL TO DEATH

HERTFORDSHIRE, Eng., Feb. 12.—Details of the airplane accident in which Cadet Stedman, American aviator, was seriously injured and another killed, were revealed in the inquest here today.

The two machines, it was shown, were flying toward the sun about 50 yards apart. Both aviators, partly blinded by the glare, suddenly swerved together. The planes, locked in a tangle of wreckage, fell flaming to the ground.

Blue Bird Bureau

The kindness of those who suffer hardships themselves to those in greater trouble, partake of sacrifice rarely experienced by those in the pleasure and more gracious walks of life. Those who live in comfort are ready to give, and give generously. But they do not frequently take the stranger in to share their bed and board.

In a little house, in a little street, there is a family of six, a mother and five children. To them came another family, a mother who had been deserted by her husband. She also had five children, and she had no money, no furniture, nothing to eat, and no friends.

She and her children were taken into the little house, and all that was there is now being shared. The house has only four rooms. In these four rooms, twelve human beings are being housed, are sleeping, eating and having their daily life.

If it were practicable, they would perhaps go on living together, and sharing expenses. The "guest family" is now now found friends. The friends have promised them some chairs and a table. A bed so, and some other essential. But the mother must have a cook stove. And they need a mattress for a double bed. It is hoped that someone who has a usable cook stove stowed away in the basement will communicate with the Blue Bird Bureau, and do so as soon as possible, as the present condition of packing a dozen human beings into four small rooms cannot be permitted to continue indefinitely.

The "host family" has endured hardship and has accepted the crowded conditions, the halving of supplies, without complaining. But it is not just that this, which is of the nature of a community problem, should be allowed to be a burden upon one small group.

AFTER CHAUFFEUR

TACOMA, Feb. 12.—The police are at a loss to account for a motive for persistent attacks upon Patrick Matheson, an automobile driver which culminated early today in the dynamiting of Matheson's home. The explosion tore out the side of the house and made a large hole in the ground, but it did not injure any one, as Matheson was not occupying the room at the time.

Several weeks ago Matheson was set upon by unknown assailants and severely beaten, being unconscious for hours. Shortly afterward his new automobile was stolen and burned up. Matheson says he has no idea as to the identity of his enemies.

WILL TELL OF I. W. W. SABOTAGE

Details of recent arson plot investigations in the north of country-wide dynamite and sabotage rings, and widespread spy organizations broken up by Federal officials, will be exposed tomorrow when, before the Manufacturers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, Walter Evans of Portland, district attorney of Multnomah county, former United States Attorney in Oregon, and prospective candidate for the governorship of that State, will be the speaker.

Evans, as United States Attorney and later as district attorney, has followed the various spy and arson rings of the north-west from the start, and knows every detail of the trailings of the various gangs broken up there. His address will be a series of dramatic stories based on real life and solid facts. He will tell of the attempts made to dynamite mills, food stores and industrial plants, and other phases of the federal investigations.

Charles E. Thatcher of the East Bay Water Company, will act as chairman of the affair. Joe Chrysostomo of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will be "official klacker," and Harry Knowles will introduce the new members.

"Revelations of a Wife," a startling story of married life, by Adele Garrison, will start as a serial in tomorrow's TRIBUNE. No newspaper story of recent years has the power and absorbing interest of this account of one woman and one man. The thousand problems that beset the wife are called up and solved in the Adele Garrison tale. Intrigue and adventure mark many chapters. The love element is paramount, of course—and there is the eternal triangle. "Revelations of a Wife" will start in tomorrow's TRIBUNE.

Garis' BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Garis)

It was very cold in Woodland, near the Orange Ice mountains, where Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit housekeeper, lived with his muskrat lady housekeeper, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, in a hollow stump bungalow. It was so cold that Jack Frost could draw funny pictures on the windows and the pictures would not melt as they did in the summer.

"Surely you are not going out today," Uncle Wiggly said. Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she saw the bunny putting on his fur coat one morning, said he must have adventures in the bungalow as well as warm, and I can't have adventures staying in the bungalow.

"I'll let you take a cake of soap and blow bubbles," said the muskrat lady. "Now will that do for an adventure?" "No, I think you," laughed Uncle Wiggly. "And you can slide down the stair banister if you like," went on the muskrat lady. "Alas, that would be an adventure."

"I fell off it would," said the bunny with a laugh, as he twinkled his pink nose like the rubber in the end of a lead pencil. "But I think I'll go out, cold as it is, and look for something to happen to me in the woods or fields."

So Uncle Wiggly started out and he had not gone very far before all of a sudden he heard a sort of howling, yowling, growling sort of noise down by the frozen duck pond and saw the bunny, as he started to run away. "This is no place for me," said Uncle Wiggly, as he saw the bunny. "There surely must be the bad old skinner—scally alligator with the bumps on his tail. He is howling to scare me!"

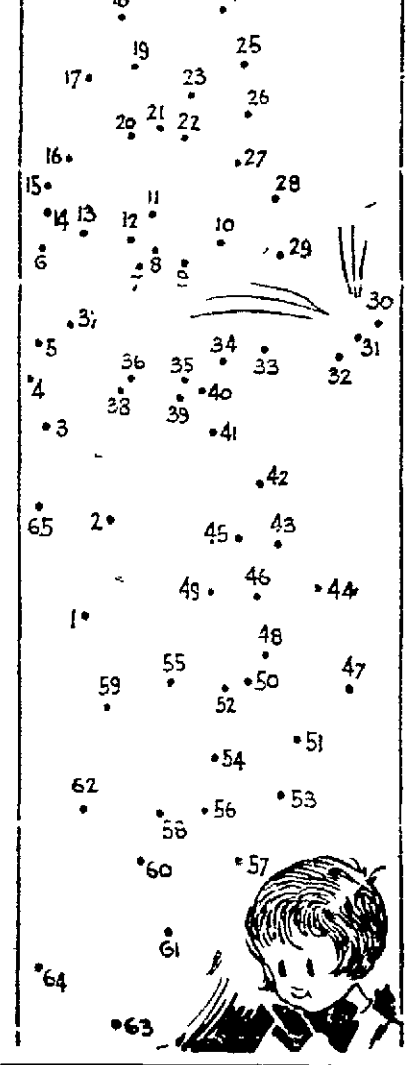

"Oh, please don't run!" Uncle Wiggly cried a sad voice. "Indeed I'm not the alligator cat. But I'm in trouble and perhaps you can help me."

"What trouble are you in, and who are you?" asked the bunny. "I am Mr. Frozen-rabbit, the raccoon, with ribs on my tail," was the answer. "And I am frozen fast to the ice—at least my tail is. Please help me to get loose."

"Indeed I will!" said kind Uncle Wiggly, and running down to the frozen duck pond ocean, there he saw the raccoon gentleman fast on the ice. "How did it happen?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, I sat down on the ice a minute to tie my shoe lace," said Mr. Frozen-rabbit. "And all of a sudden I couldn't get up. I was frozen fast. But if you help pull me perhaps I can help you."

her cheeks, and ran down her pink nose, which twinkled almost like Uncle Wiggly's. "Why, Susie! Whatever is the matter?" asked the bunny uncle.

"No one can help me," said Susie. "I am crying because my paws are cold." "Oh, I wouldn't cry for that," said Uncle Wiggly. "For when you cry salt water tears roll down your face, and freeze, and that makes your cheeks cold."

"Well, but when my cheeks are cold I don't think so much of my paws being cold," said Susie. "Oh, if I only had a muff like Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy has," went on the little rabbit girl. "My paws would not get cold. Oh, dear!"

"I'll run home and get Nurse Jane's muff for you," said the bunny rabbit gentleman. "Oh, by that time my paws will freeze so hard they'll drop off!" cried Susie. "Ha! Freeze! Drop off! That's what happened to a piece of my tail!" cried the bunny.

Here, Susie! Take this nice, fluffy part of my tail that I don't need any more.

And Susie was crying tears that froze into little round marbles of salty ice on her cheeks, and ran down her pink nose, which twinkled almost like Uncle Wiggly's.

Kitchen Economies

by Lobel Brands of the Applecroft Experimental Station

She has gone in so strenuously for the patriotic idea of conservation that I couldn't help remarking to her that she out-Hooverizes Hoover. Truly, a little bird could not live on what she chooses there are none, left-overs are an unknown quantity, and there is no waste of fuel, food or furnishing so far as the eve can see.

How on earth have you managed such an amazing reformation? I asked her in half-jesting admiration. "Easiest thing in the world," she replied nonchalantly. "You know I always took life as an opportunity for having fun. I never had a serious thought in my mind. Even my household, being so small, never gave me much trouble until the economy wave struck us all. For awhile I was desperately rebellious. I never had been taught the value of a dollar nor how to save a cent, and how on earth I was going to save on meat, bills and coal bills, out to the very white bread used, was a complete mystery to me."

"Well, how did you manage it?" I interrupted curiously. "Wait, I'm coming to it. I thought it out. I had regarded everything as fun or as a good game, and so I was determined that I'd make saving a game. First thing I did was to buy a small book, and I started right in making entries each day of all the things I bought and how much I paid for them. I thought it was what they call a 'day book.' At the end of each week I total up all I have spent, and I also make a record of the total amount of flour, sugar, butter and meat that I have used up for that week."

"Then I sort of make a bet with myself that I can beat my record for the following week. I try to use less of the things I splurged on. I buy more of the butter substitutes and less of the real fats and butters. I try to use baking powder or sour milk or other ingredients that can take the place of eggs when I make a cake. I try to cook the made dishes with a bean or nut or fish basis to take the place of meats."

"You don't know what fun it is to total up the figures for the week and to compare them with the expenditures for previous weeks. Almost invariably I beat my record on at least one item. And do you know that I usually take the money I have saved in this way and put it in a little tin box?"

"I found on that there really isn't any fun in saving with the left hand if you spend the money with the right hand without knowing where it goes. Now, in addition to the satisfaction of helping Uncle Sam save the foods that he needs most for the folks abroad, I can go to my little tin box and see a dollar and cents just how much money I have saved by my patriotic efforts."

"There is another little record I keep which is a great satisfaction, and said.

Through the mail have come cards announcing the engagement of one of the younger girls of Oakland society, Miss Florence Bogart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Bogart, and William Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brooks of Clifton Avenue. Among the friends of the couple the betrothal has been known for some time, and the formal announcement just made has confirmed the interesting rumor. Miss Bogart is an accomplished musician and a graduate of Miss Merriman's school in Piedmont. Brooks is now planning to join the naval reserve, and it is probable that the marriage of the couple will take place before his departure.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Nickerson on Tunnel Road at 9 o'clock this evening the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Nickerson, and Harold Flint Danforth is to take place, with only very close friends of the two families witnessing the nuptial service. Mrs. Randolph Nickerson (Lucy Moore) will be the only attendant upon the bride as matron of honor, and Louis Brochton the best man for Danforth. The informal wedding reception will follow directly after the ceremony. The nuptial service will be read by Rev. F. Augustus Martyn of St. Clement's chapel.

A Miss Nickerson, who is a Vassar graduate, has remained at her home in Berkeley since returning from the East and has been entertained extensively by her former classmates at college, since the announcement of her betrothal. The wedding this evening is of interest to a large number of friends both here and in the East.

The usual weekly afternoon tea at Mills College, which was to have been given tomorrow afternoon on the college campus, has been postponed until Wednesday, February 20, in memory of the late artist, Giuseppe Cademasso, who for fifteen years was connected with the art department at Mills College.

Near Arbutus, where is situated the country home of Mrs. Fred Meckles, Mrs. George E. Caswell of Los Angeles gave a luncheon recently at which was announced the betrothal of two University of California graduates—Miss Florence Scott of Colusa and Cecil Hoke Straub. Following the dinner there was a social gathering of the sorority sisters of the bride-elect, and the oldest of California families. Lieutenant D. D. Scott of San Francisco is a brother of Miss Scott. Both Straub and his fiancée took their degrees from the State University with the class of 1916.

Straub is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Straub of Sutter county, and at present is in training at the third officers' training camp at Camp Lewis, near Tacoma, Wash., where he is a member of the Missouri family of prominence. The wedding is to be solemnized in the near future, since the bride-elect's sister will join her husband, Captain Clarke, in the east shortly.

For Miss Lucile Parr, fiancée of Paul de Fremery, an afternoon tea was given Sunday by Miss Roydon Woolsey at her home in Webster street, Berkeley. The wedding of Miss Parr and Paul de Fremery will not take place until after the graduation of both.

In the heart of the mountains in Tennessee is a settlement school, one of the most interesting in the country, and its sponsors are the alumnae of the Pi Beta Phi Woman's fraternity. A series of benefits throughout the States are given during the year, and with the funds the work is carried on. Saturday evening the Berkeley Tennis Club was the setting for a card party and dance given by the local alumnae chapter, and the proceeds are to be used in this undertaking.

The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. G. B. Blankenberg and Mrs. Paul Post, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Ables, Mrs. Roy Warner, Mrs. S. K. Strite and Mrs. Clara Bailey.

MISS HARRIET BENNETT, charming Fresno belle and dramatic soprano, who is to appear in the initial organ recital and sacred concert to be given under the patronage of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander in the new Piedmont church this evening.

under the patronage of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander, host and hostess for the evening. Three hundred invitations have been extended for the first of this series. Besides Miss Bennett, who is to commence at 8:30 o'clock, William W. Carruth, organist; Stanislas Bern, cellist; Kujetan Atti, harpist, and Elbert F. Cowan, violinist.

Mrs. George E. Church is arranging the details of the concert.

The engagement day of Miss Harriett Ehrenberg, daughter of Mrs. Alartha Ehrenberg of this city and fiancée of Harvey Francis Liart, are to be filled with delightful affairs. Two occasions for which invitations have already been sent out are those for which Mrs. August Schilling and Mrs. Warren S. Palmer will preside as hostesses this month.

Mrs. August Schilling's invitations are for February 19, when she will open her home for an afternoon tea for the friends of her honor guests.

Mrs. Warren S. Palmer will entertain later in the month—Tuesday afternoon, February 26, the date set for a delightful tea. Besides these two affairs there will be a number of others for which the dates will be set within a day or two. Miss Ehrenberg is one of the most popular sorority girls at the University of California, of which she is a graduate. She is a niece of Mrs. August Schilling.

Mrs. George Friend opened her pretty home in Thousand Oaks this afternoon to a few of her intimate friends, who meet regularly to sew for the Red Cross. After the usual sewing bee, refreshments are served to the guests.

The appeal of patriotism and greatly increased market price are prompting the farmers of this country to put more of their land to rye. Millers are being urged to grind it and now the housewives of the country can do their part by learning how to use it as a wartime substitute. The following United States Food Administration recipes for the bread, muffins and drop cakes will give variation to "wheatless" days:

RYE BREAD.
One cup scalded milk, 1 cup boiling water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1-4 cup lukewarm water, 3 cups flour, rye meal.

To milk and water add salt; when lukewarm, add dissolved yeast cake and flour, beat thoroughly, cover, and let rise until light. Add rye meal until dough is stiff enough to knead. Knead thoroughly, let rise, shape in loaves, let rise again, and bake.

RYE MUFFINS.
One cup rye meal, 3/4 cup flour, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 3 tablespoons melted fat.

Milk and sift dry ingredients; add milk gradually, egg well beaten and melted fat; bake in hot oven in greased muffin pans twenty-five minutes.

RYE DROP CAKES.
Two-thirds cup rye meal, 2-3 cups flour, 3/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup milk, 2 tablespoons molasses.

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add milk gradually, molasses, and egg well beaten.

Saving Fats Does Not Mean Flavorless Foods!

Economy and Better Cooking the Rule in Households Where Mazola is Used

What olive oil is to Italy—Mazola is to America. Pressed from Indian Corn, for sautéing, deep frying, shortening and salad dressings, it is as pure and wholesome as the food it is cooked with or eaten on.

Mazola is a wonderful aid to good cooking because it enables the housewife to serve more delicate pastries, fried and sautéed dishes—and at the same time save animal fats, such as butter, lard, suet.

The same lot of Mazola can be used many times over as it does not carry flavor or odor from one food to another. That is why Mazola is so economical.

And for salad dressings it is perfect—easier to mix than an olive oil dressing.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

By Edna B. Kinard

Governor Stephens had a patriotic garden patch last year in the space which adjoins his executive mansion. This year he will have another. It is one way he has of showing the people of California that he is not asking of them anything in war service in which he himself is not willing to take first the lead. On his cucumber vines he had a crop of $20, each of which actually cost him something like 25 cents. There were but himself and wife in the household. The chief executive figured that to use them they would have to consume ten cucumbers per day so long as the season lasted. Even after cucumbers had gone to friends and foes alike there still remained plenty of cucumbers. But Governor Stephens was satisfied and he is going to have another record crop this year.

He argues that even if some are wasted and thrown away from the garden patches there still has been just that much saved to the world supply because there has been that much more grown and that much less demanded from the common storehouse.

The Lockwood district has, in common with the governor, the same idea. Already the school garden patch, which has been cared for by the young students under the direction of the teachers and with the cooperation of the Parent-Teachers' Association, has begun to sprout onions and peas and lettuce. Later there will be a foodstuff exhibition and a district market which is in very truth what it claims to be, home grown and home purchased and home consumed. For the Lockwood youngsters are in the field to supply the neighborhood tables with fresh vegetables and have a patriotic use for the dimes and quarters which they will glean.

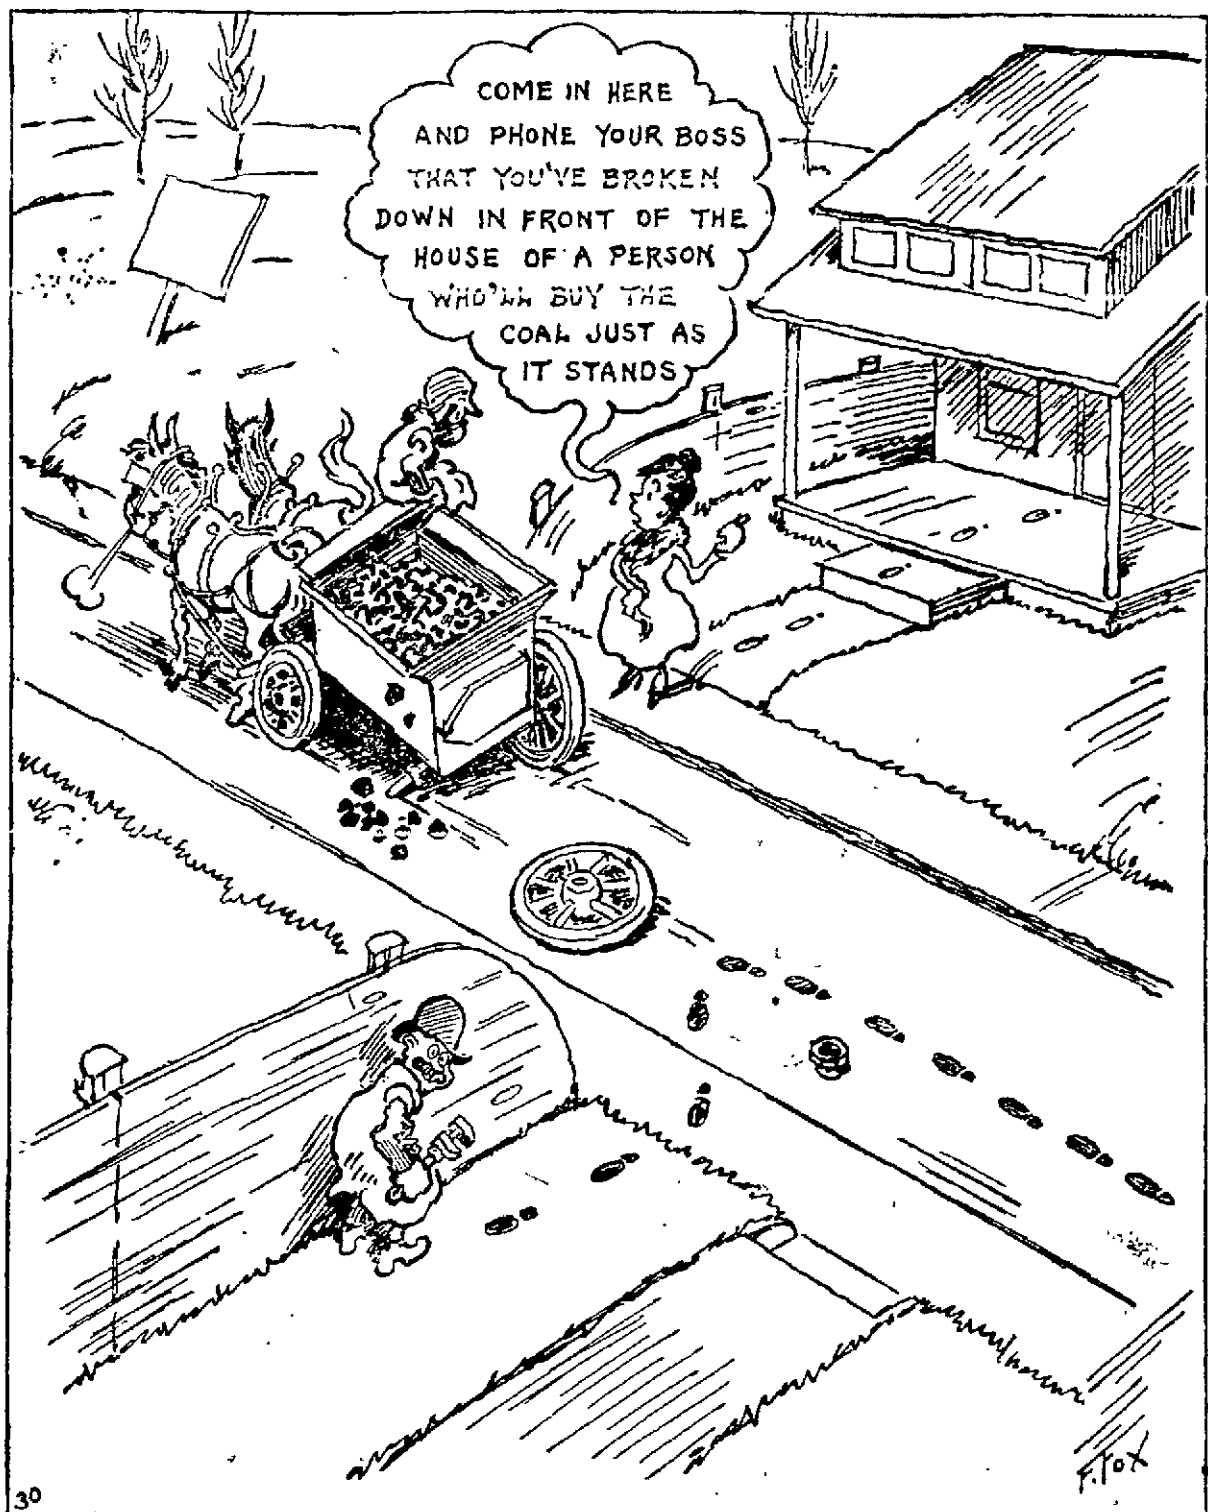

But the spring garden campaign is not to cease right here. Again is the Parent-Teacher Association the leader, with the young people the eager assistants. Saturday will inaugurate a well-planned drive, which will result in the Lockwood district putting on the guise of a patriotic garden spot with vegetables and foodstuffs supplying the flowers of other seasons. Every vacant lot is to be cleared and made ready for the planting. Every unused backyard is to be re-modeled. The section has been divided into districts, with an active campaign over each to direct the general work of preparation to the harvest. At the noon hour all the workers will assemble in the playground to be refreshed with the substantial luncheon which the mothers' association will provide.

Whether these youngsters and neighbors will break the governor's record remains for the summer to tell, but at any rate they are going to try.

RIGHT SORT OF PILLOW

Whenever you undertake such a task as an inventory of your bed clothes, you will be apt to discover that some of the soft, downy pillows which were a part of the family inheritance may have to find a place among the many household goods which have been scheduled for the refuse heap.

Feather pillows of the old-fashioned type are unhygienic, because they are neither germ-free nor clean. That part of the human machinery which is supposed to lie on the pillows does not rest upon them so as to be in a position parallel with the rest of the anatomy. The softness of the down is frequently the source of the stiff neck which accompanies your waking, and this feeling of soreness and pain may perhaps be traced back to the restless movements which pushed the feathers so much to one side as to render stiff and hard that spot upon which your head rested. The neck, in its twisted position, is apt, at times, to become afflicted with knots and lumps during your sleep so that interference with a large vein or artery may even result in some permanent damage.

GERMS OFTEN PRESENT. When you realize that feather pillows are, in many instances, handed down in families from time immemorial, you probably will not be surprised to know that examination under the microscope of the down or feathers in them may reveal the presence of millions of germs, which are ready to do some mischief when the run-down vitality of the human machine gives the opportunity. As soon as the life motor becomes impaired by "colds" or coughs or ailments of certain kinds bacteria in the feathers of your pillows begin to "do their bit" to provoke and to complicate the malady.

There is some ground, perhaps, for the suspicion that infantile paralysis is transferred by the use of the old-time feather pillows for babies. Myriads of bacteria are prone to become a menace to baby's health. The heat which feather pillows produce about a child's head, a most delicate part of his entire mechanism, is not liberated because feathers are a non-conductor, and, therefore, an excellent retainer. Since a child's flesh and blood are very sensitive, the head becomes overheated, interference with the heart action may possibly take place and indirectly aid the virus of some disease to make greater headway in the progress of that ailment.

A BETTER PILLOW. Just as the tired, worn-out plant must ever give way to the young and vigorous offshoot, so the old-fashioned, worn-out, too thoroughly exploited feather pillow is soon to make way for the modern, sanitary pillow. This new head rest is small—as long as the space between the back of the neck and the top of the head, and as wide as the line from shoulder to shoulder, and about five inches in height. It is easily filled through a slit in its ticking with new stuffings of curled hair, and so is kept clean and wholesome. It does not give opportunity for a brood of bacteria to grow old within it.

The physiologist's pillow is adapted to the individual's head. The rest plane of the anatomy and that of the head are parallel to each other when the weary human machine reposes peacefully in bed. No opportunity is given to crumple the pillow into a hard knot under the head or neck or to give hindrance to the free flow of the blood. It remains straight and comfortable during the night, uniformly smooth, and is an aid in body building. The pillow itself tends not to break up the resistance of the flesh-covered bony framework of the human form.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS. Q.—What can I do for a very red nose?
A. You evidently eat too much rich, highly seasoned and hot food. You should avoid soap, cat kilt and B're on a hermit-like fare. Nine people deny over-eating and do not realize what is consumed until an inventory is made. Eat much less than you do now and have a dermatologist scrub the nose.

PHLEBITIS. Can you recommend a dry shampoo that will keep the hair clean and fluffy?
A. A dry shampoo that is most satisfactory for a blonde, but that might leave unbecoming traces in dark hair, is this: Cornmeal..... 1 ounce
Orris root (powdered)..... 1 ounce
Shake these ingredients well into the hair and allow it to remain for a short time. When it is brushed out it will carry much of the dust also.

H. P.—A. If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope I shall be pleased to give you the information you seek.

Knitting Yarns

By Edna B. Kinard

Over in Alameda there is an energetic little patriot who is doing her best to keep supplied the boys in uniform who are needing socks. She has a fine and honorable record. Also she had a sock which was half-finished to match one which she had completed. There was time to be obtained to match it. Or what earthly use is a sock and a half? None to be sure. So she rushed and rushed and made herself unhappy and distressed the family and incited every one to a hunt for that peculiar shade of dark gray. As she sat contemplating the many woes which were put in the way of one who was trying to do her duty, her eye fell upon a pair of her husband's slippers, which peeped from under the bed where he had tossed them. She had knit them as a birthday surprise and he had been proud and happy in the witty attention and worn them faithfully to prove his gratitude. But, alas, the soft threads just matched the socks. So did the slippers meet their fate. So did the patriot wear her socks. The sock was finished. There was enough for another pair besides. The ways of those who try to do their duty sometimes lie through mysterious and providential places. What is a husband to a soldier?

"I love to see the women in my audience knitting," said Governor Stephens last week in Oakland, putting on the housewifely art the official stamp of approval. "I love to hear of that minister who invited the womenfolk of his congregation to bring their knitting to worship. It showed he had a practical idea of religion."

With the governor standing stoutly on the knitting platform and the governor's wife taking the service yarns with her wherever the governor went, what chance has any woman in California to escape doing a bit of knitting?

If the boys who are to join the Junior Red Cross this week think there is no manly task awaiting them, they are sadly mistaken. There is something to be done and without their help knitting cannot be done. They have to make the long, smooth needles which is the simple machinery which the girl used to the accomplishment of their big task. The manufacturing of these twelve-inch implements of patriotism is one of the specific tasks which the Junior manual districts for boys. The directions are explicitly given. "To be made two inches long of hard wood. Sharpen one end with a pencil sharpener, carefully sandpaper, rub with floor wax until perfectly smooth."

Have you heard of Grandmother's corner in the rooms of the Red Cross Society in an effort to conserve 50 per cent of the nation's wool? The sock legs will outwear many feet. Back there in the older days when time did not pass so rapidly grandmother would rip off the toe or heel or entire foot of the knitted sock and quickly fashion the new part. The wool which was taken out was carefully sorted and that part which was not worn then was put back into a new leg. It used to be done, Mrs. L. E. Bowers of Brookhaven, Miss., remembers the custom well and says what has been done can be done again. This is the reason and the purpose for creating the new section. Everyone who has knitted socks knows that with the strenuous use to which the foot is put they are not going to last forever. So it is proposed that when the men find the toe gone or the heel through or the foot entirely abandoned the parts that remain should be washed and shipped back to the Red Cross rooms to be rehabilitated.

But some one else has made a first aid suggestion. It has to do with the stitching in time proverb, ignoring the superstition of passing on a sharp point. When sending the sock or sweater or scarf, send a needle threaded with a small amount of the wool, anticipating the rent which is sure to come along presently.

SMITH TO SPEAK

Assemblyman Frank Smith will be the speaker of the evening tonight at the patriotic rally and Lincoln Day celebration to be held by the Garfield Civic Association at the Grant D. Miller Hall, 2368 East Fourteenth street.

"Making Eyes" for Beauty

by Luktezia Bori Famous Spanish Opera Singer and noted Beauty

The woman who willfully neglects to care for and to preserve the beauty of her eyes is guilty of base ingratitude to nature and gross injustice to herself.

The eyes are perhaps even more expressive of character than the mouth, and for this reason, if for no other, they should be given the daily attention necessary to bring out the beauty of their expression.

Much of eye beauty depends upon the eyebrows. They should be beautifully arched and well-groomed. Night and morning the brows should be brushed at night to stimulate their growth, and in the morning for the sake of a well-groomed appearance.

Little eyebrow brushes are usually obtainable at any place where toilet articles are sold. However, if they are not to be had, a not-too-stiff nail brush or even-bristled toothbrush will answer the purpose. Begin, of course, toward the nose and brush each eyebrow toward the ear. The brushing should be done with gentle firmness, and each stroke should be even and the full length of the eyebrow.

Occasionally there is an abnormally long hair which mars the symmetry of the eyebrow. This should be clipped off with the scissors or removed with a pair of tweezers.

Then there are the scant eyebrows and eyelashes which give the eyes an unattractive expression. The remedy for this defect is simple—apply olive oil or vaseline. Each night before retiring dip a small camel's hair brush into warmed olive oil or vaseline and apply it to the eyebrows.

For scant lashes carefully apply the vaseline to the edges of the eyelids. It is frequently happens that the brows and lashes are so light they cause the face to have almost a characterless expression. In such cases, when the natural coloring is absent, it may be supplied by touching the eyebrows with a brown or black stain to correspond with the color of your hair. It may be just the needed touch to bring out the beauty of the eyes and face.

Sometimes one eyebrow is shorter than its fellow, or one is more beautifully arched than the other. It then becomes necessary to employ some means to make them correspond in shape. In such cases an eyebrow pencil should be called into use. These harmless little aids to beauty are perfectly legitimate if done artistically to conceal a defect, thus making the person less conspicuous. Remember that "art conceals art" and take infinite pains to make the defective eyebrow an exact duplicate of its twin.

Crow's feet also detract from the eye's beauty, and should be speedily eradicated as soon as they appear. But it is never too late to begin the treatment to restore the smoothness to the skin at the outer corner of the eyes. The drawback is that crow's feet of long standing require more patience to eradicate and more persistent effort.

PEACE DISCUSSIONS.

If President Wilson's speech before Congress yesterday, the complete text of which was published in yesterday's TRIBUNE, was intended solely for the Austrian government and the people of Austria-Hungary, it is timely and well conceived. No occasion was apparent for a reply to the speech which the German chancellor, on behalf of the Prussian militarists, delivered a few days ago to the Reichstag. It is not possible to see how anything can be gained by exchange of views with the present governing power of Germany, which the President has repeatedly said must be broken down before peace is possible, a sentiment which has the hearty support of the American people.

But if the people of Austria are ready for peace, regardless of the alliance which their officials have made with Germany, they should not be denied the opportunity of discussing at least the principles which the United States believes should underlie future peace establishments and the conditions which are a prerequisite of peace.

Just as soon as the various nationalities and political elements of the Austro-Hungarian empire realize that the way of peace does not lie with German military masters they should be permitted to talk of a readjustment of their affiliations and of their government. The President's message may be a wedge between the German dictators and their Austro-Hungarian pawns. If it so proves it will be a valuable stroke in winning the war.

But it must not be forgotten that the dynastic house of the Hapsburgs is as hateful and menacing to free government as is that which the German kaiser represents. The word of Emperor Charles is no more to be trusted than the word of Emperor Wilhelm. A government in Austria responsible to the people cannot rest upon a monarchical foundation. It must be a repudiation of the system left by one of the organizers of the war, the late Emperor Franz Joseph. When such a popular voice speaks America will be ready to listen.

RUSSIA DEFINITELY QUILTS.

Late reports from Petrograd confirm the worst fears of the Allies and they have fully prepared themselves for the news. The Bolshevik powers have agreed to the German demand for demobilization of the Russian armies and to withdrawal from the war. The German lines will be maintained at their present location in Russian territory, extending in a fairly straight line from the Gulf of Riga to the eastern Rumanian border.

Simultaneously it is announced that the newly-declared Black Sea republic of Ukraine has signed a German peace. The German military authorities are reported to have sent an ultimatum to Rumania commanding her to agree to peace negotiations.

THE GOOD OF WAR.

BY HARVEY O'HIGGINS

"So far," wrote William James, "war has been the only force that can discipline a whole community." And in your textbook on social psychology you have read William McDougall's testimony:

"As one travels up any of the larger rivers of Europe one meets with tribes that are successively more warlike. In the coast regions are peaceful communities which never fight save in self-defense, and then with but poor success, while in the central regions, where the rivers take their rise, are a number of extremely warlike tribes, whose raids have been a constant source of terror to the communities settled in the lower reaches of the rivers. And between those tribes at the center and those in the coast regions are others that serve as a buffer between them, being decidedly more bellicose than the latter but less so than the former. It might be supposed that the peaceful coastwise people would be found to be superior in moral qualities to their warlike neighbors; but the contrary is the case.

"In almost all respects the advantage lies with the warlike tribes. Their houses are better built, larger, and cleaner; their domestic morality is superior; they are physically stronger, are craver, and physically and mentally more active, and, in general, are more trustworthy. But, above all, their social organization is far more efficient, because their respect for authority and obedience to their chief and their loyalty to their community are much greater; each man identifies himself with the whole community and accepts and loyally performs the social duties laid upon him. And the moderately warlike tribes occupying the intermediate region stand midway between them and the people of the coast as regards these moral qualities."

Similarly in China and India, McDougall goes on to say, the people are patient and long-suffering, have no taste for war and despise the military virtues. "At the same time they seem to be deficient in those social qualities which may be summed up in the one word 'conscientiousness,' and which are the cement of societies and essential factors of their progressive integration." In other words, war can be, among savage peoples, a powerful civilizer. Among the most powerful races the absence of a warlike spirit makes a flabby social system. And, though we have been so reluctant to enter this conflict with Germany, and though we seek no territory, no imperial power, and no commercial advantage, but aim only to defeat a military autocracy that is already evident from the new tone of our public life that such social psychologists as James and McDougall have not been wrong. The war is forcing us a private gun that we had not counted on.

In our recent struggle for the new freedom of which President Wilson wrote, the great obstacle to political and economic reform has been our lack of social conscientiousness. We were selfish-seeking. We felt no moral obligation of patriotism in doing our political duties, no sense of responsibility for the welfare of our fellow citizens. We sold out the nation's affairs. "What is everybody's business is nobody's business." And it was true. The country was hopelessly divided into class antagonisms, sections quarreling, individual ambitions, exploiters and exploited, oppressors and oppressed.

Suddenly in a few months the war has done what all the political preaching and reform crusading of a decade had begun to do. Men who could not be bothered to vote for their country find themselves called upon to die for it. Warlike classes that saw in political power nothing but an opportunity to pursue their enmities have in a moment realized that their most ally strength in a common self-defense or both may perish. A nation that scarcely seemed to exist as a nation has come miraculously into being. What was nobody's business is everybody's business, and everybody is attending to it. The war has acted to harden the cement of society. The Nation has integrated.

And it is inconceivable that the old laxness and social irresponsibility can ever return. The national isolation that made these possible has passed forever. The oceans no longer separate us from Europe and Asia. The submarine and the flying squad have beleaguered us as they have beleaguered England. Whether we wish it or not, we are now a partner in the affairs of the whole world, compelled to help preserve the peace of civilization against the backward and predatory and barbarous races.

After the threat of war, the evacuation of peace. The million men who go now to repel that threat will never return to the indifference from which they have been aroused. The citizen who has been called upon to die for his country will come back with a proper sense that he must live for it and live to make it worth dying for. Wealth has found that it has no hands with which to defend itself, and that the poverty of its neighbor makes a feeble soldier in its defense. The reforms that were needed to make the nation whole and healthy will no longer be discouraged by the men who profited by the nation's disease, since they have seen in its weakness the danger to themselves. And their opposition will not be tolerated by the convalescent patient, conscious of his improvement in strength and happiness.

This war, as hated as death itself, a curse and an affliction, has still the virtue of the threat of death—it makes plain to us the enduring values of our national life and inspires us all to cherish them.

within four days or accept the alternative of a renewed German offensive. Deserted by her Eastern ally, Russia, Rumania's position is exceedingly difficult. The government is reported to have resigned and it is doubtful if the remnant of the Rumanian army can successfully defy such forces as the central powers are prepared to throw against it, especially in the isolated position in which Bolshevik treachery has placed it.

It is thus observed that Russian counter-revolutionists have pledged Russia to desertion of the Allied cause and have made desertion a fact. Apparently this was their aim from the beginning. They worked openly with German agents in Petrograd. While keeping in mind the possibility that the Bolshevik regime might keep up active resistance against Germany and Austria, the Allies have prepared for all contingencies and will not be surprised by any possible fresh military movement on the part of the enemy. If Russian opposition is revived in the future it will be clear gain to the present Allied program.

BIRTHDAY OF THE LIBERATOR.

One hundred and nine years ago today Abraham Lincoln entered earthly life. In that sphere of nightless glory where his enfranchised spirit dwells there is no time to write wrinkles on the brow of the soul, and there is no "watching over Israel, slumbers not nor sleeps."

He was the child of poverty and toil. Not the hopeless poverty and ceaseless toil of the laborer who works for subsistence amid the din of the city, and looks not for a better life for himself or his children, but the self-imposed task and cheerful submission to privation of the American pioneer who cultivates the soil and dreams of the day when he may wear the senator's toga or sit in the governor's chair. And if wealth and promotion visit him not he contents himself and says, with Burns:

"The honest man, though e'er so poor,
Is king o' men, for a' that!"

The body of Lincoln was born in a cabin about eighteen feet square, formed of undressed logs, with a "stick and mud" chimney; a hole for egress and ingress, in which was hung an untanned deer's hide, to defend, in some sort, against the assaults of the weather; and the only exterior light was acquired through the imperfect media of the broad chimney-place and the cracks between the logs.

It came to Lincoln to be the instrument for the destruction of human slavery, whose doom he had foretold.

More than half a century has passed since the Great Emancipator journeyed on. No man was more bitterly denounced during his earthly life. No man is now more greatly honored by America.

"For the hooting mob of yesterday in silent awe return
To gather up their ashes for history's golden urn."

While the exact date for floating the next Liberty Loan has not been fixed, plans are being made for the sales campaign, and it is presumed that it will be open in March. The Treasury Department recently offered for sale $400,000,000 of treasury certificates of indebtedness due April 22 and convertible into the third Liberty Loan. This indicates the campaign will open not later than March 15th. Secretary McAdoo has repeated the statement that the Treasury will have to raise $10,000,000,000 by loans between now and July 1st, and in view of the huge tax payments which come in June the bonds will apparently have to be sold in one campaign. The total amount of treasury certificates permitted to be outstanding at one time under existing law is $4,000,000,000, and of these more than $1,000,000,000 are due on June 25th. The proceeds of these have been received and disbursed. This leaves only about $3,000,000,000 of the certificates available to apply on the $10,000,000,000 requirement, but Congress may increase the authorization.

NOTES and COMMENT

The interesting news is published that the commander at Camp Fremont has put the ban on women and girls within the military reservation except on one Sunday a month. Another exemplification of what General Sherman said war is!

Several predictions have been made that the war will come to an end in 1918. There is a general hope that it may, but an understanding on the part of the civilized world that it should not end till it ends right.

Anybody who refuses to comply with governmental regulations in such matters as enemy registration for the alleged reason that they are "children of God" and not enemy aliens defines his status. No need to proceed farther and find that he is a native of Hunland.

We shouldn't wonder if the Rev. Mr. Sillsley has started something in the observation that "modern women adore cavemen." The modern woman isn't wholly favorable to the idea that she is different from the woman of other days.

Members of the Bolshevik have gathered in New York and are trying to make it appear that they are the voice of Russia. A near-riot over it occurred at a convention. This country is proverbially hospitable to the oppressed of all nations, but that doesn't mean that it is in the business of furnishing an arena for them to fight out their differences.

There is no more notoriously easy to continue. A slight thing will do it. But the most unusual thing yet reported is mumps. Hindoos who are up on conspiracy charges are thus afflicted. To the East Indians this strange disease is no joke, and they are reported as being about as willing to take their legal medicine as their real physics.

The fact is not forgotten that this is the birthday anniversary of a great American. The celebrations by many societies and organizations testify that in these troubled times the memory of the deliverer of the country from its throes in another crisis is kept green.

The news that the Teutons have seized four United States firms in Berlin will be a surprise. The surprise will come over the disclosure that there were four American firms still in Berlin. While it has been made scarcely different here for the German within our gates, much evidence has accumulated to show that life some time ago became intolerable for an American over there.

So many things rated as impossible have come to pass or have been achieved that there is reason to believe in the report that unsinkable submarines have been invented.

It went without saying that there was acclamation in Hunland as of something worthy done when the news arrived of the sinking of the Lusitania. All of which is stored up against the day of final reckoning.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is found to be without power to do useful things in the emergency of war, and that is why the President is to be given authority to fix railroad rates. It would seem from this that the Interstate Commerce Commission is so curtailed in its powers that its usefulness even in times of peace may be questioned.

Secretary Baker urges "ships, ships, more ships!" That urge is Secretary Daniels', but Secretary Baker has one coming. General Pershing has afforded him a hunch in his beseechment for more soldiers.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The concreting of the last section of the Santa Rita-Dublin unit of the State highway is to be completed by the end of this week, and in about three weeks, as soon as the concrete sets, the new road will be opened to traffic.—Livermore Echo.

An injunction has been filed in the Superior court restraining the Supervisors from purchasing the Gelsen-dorfer place at Weinmar for a tubercular hospital for eleven counties. The action was brought by the Placer County Land Company. It was forth that Charles Gelsen-dorfer was the owner and transferred his interest to his relatives, knowing that the land was to be bought by the counties; and that as he is one of the Supervisors of Placer county, that act was illegal. The injunction will be heard by the judges of the eleven counties interested. They are: Amador, Colusa, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Placer, Plumas, Sierra, Sacramento, Tuolumne, Yolo and Yuba.—Auburn Republican.

Santa Rosa has been comparatively free of local enemy sympathizers, and in this we have cause for gratitude. It is quite unfair for shallow, irresponsible pro-German zealots to vent their feelings in such a way as to force unconsidered restrictions upon large numbers of good citizens of like nationality. The sensible citizens of German birth reflects upon the fact that he is a guest in a land to which he came uninvited, and refrains in common decency from expressing sympathy with that country's enemies. It is only the shallow pots that tinkle.—Santa Rosa Republican.

Have you bought one of those little five-pound sacks of sugar? If you have it must strike you as being very odd, for the food conservation act to place a country and then increase the price of the packages sold you by putting it up in an expensive cotton bag. At this time cotton is about the most expensive thing on the market, and the prodigal use of it by the sugar trust seems to the average householder as being decidedly suspicious, to say the least.—Contra Costa.

"Be patient, Mr. President. Remember, they are all true Americans"

IN THE TWILIGHT ZONE OF THE WAR INCOME TAX LAW

By Nelson G. Welburn,
Deputy Collector, Internal Revenue Dept.

Considerable confusion prevails in many quarters as to what actually constitutes the so-called "head of a family." The law is very precise on that particular phase of the subject. Treasury Decision 2427 states that a "head of a family" is held to be a person who actually supports and maintains one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation.

That does not mean that a single person coming under this particular classification and earning over $1000, but not exceeding $2000, is exempt from filing a return. He must file a return but is not subject to taxation. He receives the same exemption of $2000 that a married person does. Widows and widowers not supporting anybody closely related to them are classed as single persons and are only permitted an exemption of $1000.

The next important element that enters into the computation of the income tax is the item of depreciation on incomes derived from rented properties. In order to arrive at the amount of depreciation to be deducted the life of the building must be divided into the cost of the building from which the income is derived. Wooden buildings are estimated to have a life of twenty-five years, brick thirty-five years and concrete buildings 100 years. For example, a wooden building costing $10,500, with the estimated life of twenty-five years, would entitle the holder of such property to only a depreciation amounting to $420. The minute the building has exceeded the estimated life, as stated, that minute depreciation under the income tax law ceases.

The law of 1916 first stated that repairs exceeding the amount of depreciation could not be deducted. Under no consideration, it stipulated, could the item of repairs be greater than the amount of depreciation. The law since then has been revised. Any item of repairs due to wear and tear can now be deducted irrespective of the fact whether it exceeds the amount of depreciation or not. Items of replacements are not items deductible. Wall papering, tiling, painting, repairs or plumbing, fixing of broken window panes, plastering and anything that would logically be called a repair due to wear and tear are items deductible under that phase of the law.

Holders of rented flats and dwellings may deduct water, gas, electricity and fire insurance premiums as items of expense. On private dwellings none of those items are deductible. Taxes on income and non-income property are deductible. Taxes assessed for street improvement are not deductible.

The impression has gone out that dividends on stocks of corporations doing business in the United States and subject to the income tax must not be reported as an item of income by the recipient. This is an erroneous impression. All dividends coming under the above classification must be reported for the surtax. The normal tax is withheld at the source.

If a husband or wife each receive an independent income equaling or exceeding $1000, separate returns may be rendered. If, however, the income of either is less than $1000, but their combined income equals or exceeds $2000, a joint return should be filed. Under no consideration is the personal exemption to be greater than $2000. That is to say, the wife or husband can either take the whole exemption of $2000 or each take $1000 apiece.

Where husband and wife file separate returns, one of them being filed within the time prescribed by law, the other delinquent, such returns are not held to be supplemental to each other, and delinquency must be answered for by the one in connection with whose return it occurred.

The interesting subject of alimony takes an odd turn in the computation of the income tax. Those who are called upon to pay alimony are greatly surprised upon learning that one can will not permit that item to be deducted as an item of expense. Greater surprise is manifested when the alimony payer learns that the recipient of same is not called upon to report same as a source of income.

The question has been asked quite frequently whether previous taxes paid on incomes are deductible. No, is the answer. Some have been so confused as to deduct the amounts paid on Liberty bonds and even to inject carfare as deductions under items of expense. In the computation of your tax, at all times, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, when in doubt, give the government the benefit of that doubt.

WHO TOOK THAT GULF STREAM?

Those writers who have thought to find explanation of the comparatively mild winters of the past seven or eight years in the theory that the Gulf Stream had been diverted to the Atlantic seaboard now need to do some more explaining. The theory no longer works.—Norfolk Virginian Pilot.

TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN IS PAID BY CITY

The memory of Abraham Lincoln is being honored throughout the east bay district today on the occasion of the 109th anniversary of his birth by schools, churches, patriotic and civic organizations and fraternal bodies. The celebration in the schools is not in the nature of a general function, each school holding its own individual program.

The Lincoln celebration started at the Oakland Auditorium last night, when under the auspices of the Alameda County Women's Committee of the Councils for National and State Defense a patriotic program was held. The speaker of the evening was Professor Charles Mills Gayley of the University of California. He spoke on the subject "Why We Are at War," and talked on the underlying causes which inducted America into the great struggle.

Today at the Macdonough Theater the noon meeting in the interests of patriotic sentiment, represented the main feature of the program. At this meeting Professor Henry Morse Stephens was the principal speaker, giving an authoritative discourse upon the problems involved in historical parallels. Students of the Oakland High School, the Vocational High School and the Lincoln Grammar School participated in these exercises.

Patriotic exercises will be held in various schools and by various organizations tonight in conclusion of the Lincoln Day program. Under the auspices of the War Service League, patriotic rallies will be held at the Manzanita and Hawthorne schools. At the Lakeview school war pictures showing actual conditions in the war zone will be shown. The Garfield Civic Association will give a program and patriotic Lincoln rally in its headquarters at 2368 East Fourteenth street also this evening.

It will be necessary to go to the Auditorium Theater early next Friday night in order to take part in the patriotic rally arranged by the War Service League. The headquarters of the league are flooded with requests for reservations, but all such requests are in vain, as Secretary Haines announces that the affair is for the people and that it will be a case of "first come, first served." The admission is free and all are welcome. Mayor J. L. Davis and President Harmon Bell of the league will give short talks and the orator of the evening will be Professor Charles Mills Gayley. The program prepared by the committee includes a tableau by sixteen young women. Under the direction of Joseph Bell the young women have been rehearsing for two weeks and everything is almost ready for the raising of the curtain.

Pageant Makes Entry in Auditorium at 8:15 o'Clock

Final details of the ad stunt parade, which is to be the opening feature of the third annual Ad-Masque of the Oakland Advertising Club at the Civic Auditorium tonight, have been completed.

The movement of the parade, which will start at 8:15 o'clock, will be announced by bugle calls heralding the entrance of Miss Beatrice Muzzi, mounted on her white charger and representing Joan of Arc. After her exit the parade of ads appears in the following order:

United States Government Posters, Lawrence Warehouse Company, Kahn Bros., Oakland TRIBUNE, Hammer Day Company, California Cracker Company, The Curran Store, Bishop Playhouse, James Cahill & Company, Auto-Electric Service Company, T. & D. Theatrical, Imp Manufacturing Company, Grossman's, Neptune Beach, Star Matresses Company, Atkinson Mill and Lumber Company, East Bay Water Company, Lee Berthoin, John Breuner, Venus Candy Company, Kinema Theater, Wells Fargo Company, Roos Bros., Oakland Enquirer, Lehnhardt's, H. C. Capwell Company, Marchant Calculating Machine Company, Tire Hospital, Wagner & Reinke, Sherman & Clay, Contra Costa Laundry, Marymont & Upright.

When the ad parade has passed out of the brilliantly illuminated arena, the grand historical pageant will appear, depicting Oakland past and present in a series of costume dances and other spectacular features.

Every indication points to a record-breaking attendance and the elaborate preparations that have been made insure a gala affair that for wealth of entertaining features and brilliancy of settings will be without precedent in Oakland.

Today was "Ad Masque Day" at the weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club of the Chamber of Commerce, when reports were filed on the details of tonight's big affair at the auditorium and final plans completed. The various specialties were described by heads of committees, reports received on advance sale of tickets, and other business transacted in connection with the affair.

Several of the novel "stunts" were discussed by the members and a number of "surprises" hinted at.

ROSTER OF COMMITTEES.
The committees of the Oakland Ad Club, who have labored zealously for the success of tonight's big ad spectacle, are as follows:

GENERAL CHAIRMAN.
William H. Barry.
FINANCE.
Charles J. Smith, Max Horwinski and general chairman.

PUBLICITY AND ADVERTISING.

GRAY SHOVES REILLEY OUT OF CITY HALL

Philip Reilly, author of a spasmodic publication, and School Director Gray, who clashed in the rooming house of the city hall last evening, enacted an almost wordless scene that was witnessed by a large audience of elevator boys, clerks and city officials who were leaving the hall at 5 o'clock, the hour that the board of education convenes.

Without either of the men having spoken a word, there was a pass at arms, a shuffle and, before the on-lookers realized what was going on, Reilly was in the street, staring about him in a bewildered way.

"I came out a breath, he gasped, endeavoring to collect himself from the tussle.

ON OUTSIDE.
"Yes, and you are out of the city hall, too," replied Gray as he re-entered the building and proceeded to take an elevator.

For two weeks Reilly and Gray have been looking for a spot. They saw, met and had it over with quicker than it takes to tell. Neither expressed hard feelings toward the other now.

Recently Reilly in an issue of his spasmodic publication attacked Gray, and referred to him as "Fluid Gray," disfiguring the name as it appears.

Gray was "looking" for Reilly to explain to him that he did not particularly resent his sighting references, but, rather felt in that case that a "knock was a boost."

Reilly, who "looked" for Gray to tell him that he really meant no harm, that he was only "kidding" him a bit and just to take a joke; something along the lines that "it is all in the political game."

Then they met—in a pantomime. And did a rag-time. Without a word. Until it was all over. The city hall.

Then Gray explained. That not a single blow was struck. It was only a pushing match. Besides, he was not angry. "I just walked up to Reilly," he said.

GOOD INTENTION.
"I intended to tell him that I was not angry with him. That he could go ahead as far as he considered it safe and that I would consider it a boost for myself."

"As I approached he put up his hands and grasped me about the arms and commenced to push me aside, like in a friendly way."

"I thought that if I tried to be any pushing that I had better get busy and be on the right end, so I took hold of Reilly like he had hold of me."

"I turned him about and headed him for the door and kept on pushing, but we hit the wrong door, and I had to stop for a moment until I could see which door I hit."

"I pushed him through into the street, and let loose of him. He said, 'I am out of breath,' and I turned around and went back into the hall. That's all. Ask Superintendent Hunter. He saw it."

So did an elevator boy, and he said: "When they hit the wrong door I thought something was going to get damaged. But it didn't."

"I heard Gray say: 'Yes, and you are out of the city hall.'"

"He wasn't out of breath. But that was all."

VIA SINGLE PORT
Orders were issued today by the postoffice department, directing postmasters to forward via New York all letters or other articles addressed for delivery in Russia or Rumania, even though marked via the Pacific or some other route.

Postmasters were also directed to continue to forward New York all letters and all other mail matter addressed for delivery in Spain and Portugal.

MRS. MUZZI DIES
Mrs. Bessie Beatrice Muzzi, sister of Police Inspector Thomas Gallagher, died today at the home of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Moore, 1414 Eighth street.

Besides Mrs. Moore and Inspector Gallagher, Mrs. Muzzi is survived by a daughter, Mildred, 7 years of age, and three brothers, Edward, Walter, and George Gallagher. The funeral services will be held Thursday from the Moore home.

MEN FIGHT WHILE CAR RUNS WILD

Held up by two automobile bandits who had hired him to drive them to Berkeley, Huco Grassel of 520 Fifty-first street, abandoned his steering wheel jumped into the back seat and scrambled with one of them as the car ran wild along Telegraph avenue near the Berkeley line early this morning, and finally fell into the street with his opponent while the other man fled with the auto. The auto thief was arrested later at Elk Grove, near Sacramento. Grassel's opponent escaped after they had fallen out of the car. The police are searching for him.

Grassel was in his garage at his home late last night when the two young men approached him and engaged him to drive them to Berkeley.

While proceeding along Telegraph avenue suddenly the man in the rear seat thrust a revolver in his back and commanded him to stop the car and deliver his valuables.

Instead of complying with the order Grassel abandoned the wheel and sprang at the bandit. For several moments they wrestled in the tonneau of the car while the man in the front seat was busy endeavoring to gain control of the wheel. He succeeded in killing the engine after the other two had fallen out. When he saw his companion flee into the darkness across lots he started the car and sped away.

Several hours after the hold-up in Oakland a man giving the name of L. S. Muller drove into the garage at Elk Grove near Sacramento and ordered repairs to the car for which he was unable to pay and the garage proprietor turned him over to the authorities.

The number on the car was credited to Grassel and Grassel was notified by wire. He asked that Muller be held. According to reports from Elk Grove Muller has confessed his part in the crime, but has so far refused to divulge the identity of his companion.

CONSIDER 8-HOUR
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Discussion of the eight-hour railroad bill was continued today, with Timothy Shea, acting president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Enginemen and Hostlers, ready to resume his testimony before the railroad wage commission.

Shea is asking that the members of his brotherhood receive an increase in pay amounting to 10 per cent generally, with a minimum wage of $3.50 per day.

J. O. HAYES of San Jose, who has entered race for governorship.

Announcement by J. O. Hayes, publisher of the San Jose Mercury, of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor brought new complications into the political situation today. Hayes is a brother of Congressman Everis A. Hayes of the Eighth California District.

Material reduction in the expenses of the State of California, redrafting of the State Constitution, invalid and old-age insurance for workmen, establishment of a "proper balance between labor and capital," and a definite offer to enlarge to a considerable extent the scope of women's activities in public life are among the planks in the program presented by Hayes.

The candidate also presents a pledge to conduct the affairs of this State with a view solely to aiding the government in the conduct of the war during the present conflict.

His statement follows:
"A very large number of Republicans in southern California and in other parts of the state have urged me to permit my name to be used at the coming primary election for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket. I have concluded to comply with this request and will make the race."

Very briefly stated, the platform upon which I shall make the campaign is as follows:
One—The affairs of the state must be so conducted as to aid the national government in every possible way.

EMPLOYEES OF CITY PLAN AMENDMENT

Planning a solid organization of all civil service employees of the city, including firemen, policemen and all clerical employees, city employees under civil service standing are preparing to launch a fight to place a new civil service plan, complete with regulations and all details, into the city charter as an amendment.

that, they say, now exists only in name. While a civil service board sits on examinations and other details at the present time, the employees hold that they are not secure in their positions, that politics can figure in their employment as much as in the past, and they believe that only by a charter amendment setting forth iron-clad civil service rules and containing a provision that "abolishing" an office and creating it under another name for another man be prohibited.

With a labor organization backing their fight the members of the Civil Service Employees Association, who are now 10,000 strong, are holding the

ALAMEDA WILL OPERATE RAILROAD

The railroad will be over a mile in length, will serve all the north side of the city and will extend to the railroad in the territory reached by a track laid off on Blanding avenue east of Park street on cement foundations.

The council determined upon the construction of the city-owned line last night at a conference held by the city board and the city manager. The city officials present were Mayor George W. Bessard, City Engineer C. E. Hickok, City Electrician J. E. Smith, City Board members Albert H. Hewes, City Probst, Al Latham and W. H. Noy. Chairman H. Krusi of the public utility board City Manager J. E. Hewes, City Engineer C. E. Hickok, City Electrician J. E. Smith, City Probst, Al Latham and W. H. Noy.

The board decided to construct the line will come from the surplus of the municipal electric fund which now amounts to $200,000. The city will be paying 12 1/2 per cent return on investment without a high rate of interest. Two years ago the city paid $200,000 for a school with. The new railroad will thus be built without additional cost to the city.

The road will be a single track line for freight only and the rolling stock will consist of a few flat cars and a hopper car for coal from the municipal light plant. Charge for switching will be made for every car hauled over the city's tracks

SAYS CORPORATION WILL ABANDON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Establishment of the Federal Reserve Corporation will have a salutary effect on the New Liberty loans, J. S. Bertrone, a New York and Philadelphia banker, today told the Senate Finance Committee.

Some such organization, he said, was necessary to carry on the business of the country.

Bertrone told the committee that bankers favored an amendment for selection of local committees in each federal reserve district to pass on proposed currency issues. Among eastern bankers, he said, there is almost "universal approval" of the bill in general.

J. O. HAYES IS OUT
FOR GOVERNORSHIP

When I came to, a pretty Red Cross nurse was bending over me, bathing my forehead with cold water. Then she laid the ward orderly placed a screen around my bed, and gave me a much-needed bath and clean pajamas. Then the screen was removed and a bowl of steaming soup was given me. It tasted delicious.

Before finishing my soup the nurse came back to ask me my name and number. She put this information down in a little book and then asked:

"Where do you come from?" I answered:

"From the big town behind the Statue of Liberty." Upon hearing this she started jumping up and down, clapping her hands, and calling out to three nurses across the ward:

"Come here, girls—at last we have got a live Yankee with us!"

They came over and beamed me with questions, until the doctor arrived. Upon hearing that I was an American he almost crushed my hand in his grip of welcome. They also were Americans, and were glad to see me.

The doctor very tenderly removed my bandages and told me, after viewing my wounds, that he would have to take me to the operating theater immediately. Personally I didn't care what was done with me.

In a few minutes, four orderlies who brought a stretcher to my bed and carried me out of the ward, across a courtyard to the operating room, or "theater," as Tommy calls it.

I don't remember having the anaesthetic applied.

When I came to I was again lying in a bed in Munsey Ward. One of the nurses had draped a large American flag over the head of the bed, and clasped in my hand a smaller flag, and it made me feel all over, to again see the "Stars and Stripes."

At that time I wondered when the boys in the trenches would see the emblem of the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave" beside them, doing its bit in this great war of civilization.

My wounds were very painful, and several times at night I would dream that by myriads of khaki-clad figures would pass my bed and each would stop, bend over me, and whisper, "The best of luck, mate."

Soaked with perspiration I would awake with a cry, and the night nurse would come over and hold my hand. This awakening got to be a habit with me, until that particular nurse was transferred to another ward.

In three weeks' time, owing to the careful treatment received, I was able to sit up and get my bearings. Our ward contained seventy-five patients, ninety per cent of whom were surgical cases.

At the head of each bed hung a temperature chart and a diagnosis sheet. Across this sheet would be written "G. S. W." or "W. S. W." the former meaning "God Shot Wound" and the latter "Shell Wound."

At the head of each bed hung a temperature chart and a diagnosis sheet. Across this sheet would be written "G. S. W." or "W. S. W." the former meaning "God Shot Wound" and the latter "Shell Wound."

About forty different regiments were represented and many arguments ensued as to the respective fighting ability of each regiment. The rivalry was wonderful. A Jock arguing with an Irishman, then a strong Cockney accent would butt in to favor the Englishman.

When a man is sent to a convalescent home, he generally turns over his steady visitor to the man in the next bed. Most visitors have autograph albums and bore Tommy to death by asking him to write the particulars of his wounding in same. Several Tommies try to duck this unpleasant job by telling the visitor that he cannot write, but this never phases the owner of the album; he or she, generally she, offers to write it for him and Tommy is stung into telling his experiences.

The questions asked Tommy by visitors would make a clever joke book to a military man.

"When did you get that wound?"

"You poor boy, wounded by those terrible Germans. You must be suffering frightful pain. A bullet did you any? Well, tell me, I have always wanted to know, did it hurt worse going in or coming out?"

Tommy generally replies that he did not stop to figure it out when he was hit. One very nice-looking, stoupey old man with astute young thing, stopped at my bed and asked, "What wounded you in the leg?"

"A polite but bored tone I answered, 'With a look of disdain she passed to the next bed, first ejaculating, 'Oh! only a bullet? I thought it was a shell.' Why she should think a shell wound was more of a distinction beats me. I don't see a whole lot of difference myself."

SELL WAR STOCKS

BUY WAR STOCKS, NEARLY TWO YEARS AGO THE "INDUSTRIAL AND MINING AGE" was the most promising war stock. INTERNATIONAL MERCANTILE MARINE, International Mercantile Marine, has been a steady performer since it was founded in 1890. The current issue of the Industrial and Mining Age, now in its tenth year, costs $5 for 12 issues. It is a fine, well-written, and well-illustrated magazine, and is a must for every investor in the war stock market.

Notice is further given that the Railroad Commission has set a hearing in the above entitled matter before the Commission, at San Francisco, California, at which time and place all interested parties may appear and be heard.

Dated at San Francisco, California, this 2nd day of February, 1918.

sible way to carry on the war to a successful conclusion.

Two—No return must be made to old conditions in state administration. The advances made during the past eight years should be preserved and perfected now that the defects are corrected or eliminated.

Three—The expenses of state government should be materially reduced. The best business expert employed to coordinate the various state activities and eliminate waste and unnecessary expense. How this can be accomplished was pointed out in greater detail later.

Four—Our laborers in every field of activity are the best paid, best fed and most comfortably quartered in the world. Their condition must continue to improve. The men of property and those who employ labor must also be treated with fairness and justice, that the proper balance in our industrial life may be maintained. We are all toilers in this country and the ideal state will be found where full credit and honor are accorded the men who toil and who produce the goods and services that we all need.

Five—Further changes in our fundamental law should be made, or preferably, a new constitution should be adopted. But this work should wait the close of the war, when the best thought of the state may be given to these problems.

Six—Additional state aid should be given in solving the problems of food production and distribution, and these problems should be made the study of the most learned and the most practical minds to be obtained. The soil should be made to produce more abundantly and uniformly crops of grains, vegetables, fruit and food animals, and the system of distributing these products should be improved so that the producer will be assured a profitable return for his land and labor and the consumer be able to obtain the necessities of life at the minimum of expense. The fact that I have said this is no exaggeration. The fruitgrower makes me keenly alive to the necessities of this branch of industry.

Seven—The demands made by the war upon the man power of the nation has resulted in greatly enlarging the scope of woman's capacity. As a result, the very field of human endeavor has been opened to her. Many branches of industry have been shown to be more efficient than men. Where women do the work of men and produce equal results, they should be paid equal compensation. The work of women in war activities has also demonstrated that their patriotism and interest in public matters are as great as those of men. By their activities and their devotion to the public welfare they have earned and should be accorded a larger voice in public matters. If elected I shall call upon the Legislature to adopt a law to be adopted in the public service in larger measure than ever before.

Eight—I strongly favor a system of invalid and old age insurance. No citizen should be allowed to die in poverty. This work can be done by some branch of the public service now in the hands of private enterprise. In the different humanitarian movements looking to improvement in the treatment and handling of the defective and criminal, I will be glad to aid in every reasonable way any effort designed to raise the standard of human life, improve living conditions and lessen the burden of crime, insanity and tubercle.

As the campaign progresses I will explain more fully my position on all questions affecting the welfare of the state.

J. O. HAYES.

WOMAN'S SCOPE

The demands made by the war upon the man power of the nation has resulted in greatly enlarging the scope of woman's capacity. As a result, the very field of human endeavor has been opened to her. Many branches of industry have been shown to be more efficient than men. Where women do the work of men and produce equal results, they should be paid equal compensation. The work of women in war activities has also demonstrated that their patriotism and interest in public matters are as great as those of men. By their activities and their devotion to the public welfare they have earned and should be accorded a larger voice in public matters. If elected I shall call upon the Legislature to adopt a law to be adopted in the public service in larger measure than ever before.

Ninth—I am deeply interested in the different humanitarian movements looking to improvement in the treatment and handling of the defective and criminal, I will be glad to aid in every reasonable way any effort designed to raise the standard of human life, improve living conditions and lessen the burden of crime, insanity and tubercle.

As the campaign progresses I will explain more fully my position on all questions affecting the welfare of the state.

When the bark Star of England sailed through the Golden Gate the wind died out and before her anchors could be lowered she drifted ashore on the west side of Alcatraz Island. A strong flood tide was running at the time. The craft stuck there and the Red Star flag and the government flag were blown into the water and were lost. No damage was done to the bark.

DOCK AND DECK

Three of the Alaska Packers' fleet arrived here yesterday with cargoes. The Star of Alaska, Captain Johnson, 14 days from Honolulu, brought 37,186 bags of sugar, and the Star of England, Captain Barland, 37,149 bags from the same port. The Star of Iceland, Captain Hemming, brought 37,149 bags of sugar.

When the bark Star of England sailed through the Golden Gate the wind died out and before her anchors could be lowered she drifted ashore on the west side of Alcatraz Island. A strong flood tide was running at the time. The craft stuck there and the Red Star flag and the government flag were blown into the water and were lost. No damage was done to the bark.

The steamer Assumption of the Standard Oil Co. fleet arrived at Point Richmond yesterday afternoon. Captain J. W. Spencer was taken ashore and sent to the hospital. While en route to the hospital the ship was struck by a mine and sank. Captain J. W. Spencer was taken ashore and sent to the hospital. OUR ADV. APPEARS TWICE A WEEK

Bevo

Put on the Bevo Glasses when you set the table for the bite you've prepared for the guests of the evening. As a suggestion for a dainty lunch: Cream cheese and chopped olive sandwiches (on brown bread), Dill pickles, Shrimp salad, Ice cold Bevo.

Itself a nutritive drink, Bevo makes an appetizing and delightful addition to any meal—hot or cold, light or heavy.

Bevo—the all-year-'round soft drink.
Sold in bottles only and bottled exclusively by
ANHEUSER-BUSCH—ST. LOUIS

A detailed black and white illustration at the bottom of the advertisement. It features a tall, dark bottle of Bevo with a label that includes the word 'Bevo'. Next to the bottle are two glasses: a tall one with a straw and a shorter one. To the left of the glasses is a large sandwich cut into four sections, resting on a platter with garnishes. In front of the sandwich is a plate of shrimp salad, and to the left of that is a small bowl of dill pickles. The entire scene is set within a decorative border.
